56-Day Sitting

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament heads today toward a summer holiday.

Both the Commons and the Senate worked extra time Thursday night in the hope that unfinished business could be cleaned up and Parliament adjourned until Sept. 30.

No party and no politician could say for sure how quickly legislation still on the books could be processed through the various stages of Parliament in time for royal assent tonight.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons voted 91 to 72 today to defeat an opposition attempt to have the government's sales tax on building supplies and production machinery withdrawn.

Immediately after the vote the Commons gave third and final reading to the government's bill putting Finance Minister Gordon's budget excise tax proposals into effect.

All MPs, however, seemed eager to break away from Ottawa's hot weather and heated politics after 56 days of sitting since Parliament opened May 15.

The government has 20 items of business on the order paper, but it has said that most of them could be left until the fall session.

SEEK ROYAL ASSENT

Today, the government wants to clear through the Commons and the Senate and get royal assent for legislation that:

1. Imposes the 11-per-cent sales tax and excise tax changes as proposed in Finance Minister Gordon's budget and changed in subsequent amendments.
2. Creates an economic council for Canada—a new body composed of labor, management and government representatives that would help plan the economic future of the country.
3. Places Parliament's stamp of approval on the temporary surcharges imposed on imports last year—thus barring court actions contesting the legality of the surcharges.
4. Establishes a $400,000,000 municipal loan fund to provide money for job-making projects in co-operation with the provinces.
5. Gives the government enough money to carry on until Parliament resumes its work in the fall.

HINTS ADJOURNMENT

As the Commons sat an hour past its normal 10 o'clock closing Thursday, State Secretary Pickersgill, government leader in the House, gave weary MPs an optimistic forecast.

The way things were going, he said, it would probably be possible to clean up in time for an adjournment tonight.

Unions Legislation Must Wait—Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — Quick drafting is not possible for the legislation imposing a federal trusteeship on five marine unions, Prime Minister Pearson said today.

It would be impossible in a short time to draw up the legislation, settle some constitutional problems and consult the provinces involved, he informed Opposition Leader Diefenbaker in the Commons.

Mr. Diefenbaker had renewed a request to have the legislation brought in now rather than at resumption of Parliament next Sept. 30, as announced Thursday.

Mr. Pearson replied that Mr. Diefenbaker must know of the intricacies involved and that Mr. Diefenbaker further surely would question the propriety of the legislation if introduced now—of using cabinet decisions to back up the legislation. Yet such orders-in-council would be required if action was taken now.

The Commons, planning to recess today or Saturday, would have to continue sitting two or

PEARSON DISMISSES GORDON QUERY

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson gave no definite reply in the Commons today when asked about a published report that Donald Gordon's appointment as CNR president will not be renewed.

Douglas Fisher (NDP—Port Arthur) referred to a report in the Montreal newspaper Le Devoir that Justice Minister Chevrier had urged Mr. Gordon's removal because of his attitude to French-speaking CNR employees.

Mr. Fisher said he hoped the story was "wildly speculative," and asked whether any consideration had been given to renewing Mr. Gordon's present appointment when it expires in September.

Mr. Pearson replied that the question was both out of order and "wildly speculative."

OTTAWA (CP) — Grain sales equivalent to those in the expiring agreement are covered in a new arrangement with Red China to be announced later today, informants said.

Trade Minister Sharp and the Canadian wheat board will simultaneously announce the details—which include a longer credit period in the House of Commons and at Winnipeg later today.

Mr. Sharp told the Commons today that he had just got word of the completion of the deal.

The announcement had been forecast earlier this week, with amounts of grain running closer than had been anticipated generally to the 145,000,000 bushels of wheat and 28,000,000 bushels of barley sold to Red China in the 2½-year agreement signed in April, 1961, and now expiring.

Mr. Sharp was replying to Reynolds Rapp (PC—Humboldt-Melfort-Tisdale).

The negotiations with Red China have been carried on at Hong Kong since early July by W. C. McNamara, Canadian wheat board commissioner who arranged the expiring agreement.

Marcel Lessard (SC—Lac St. Jean) asked whether the government will revive its policy of trading with Red China in view of President Kennedy's statement Thursday that Red China has become the greatest menace to world peace.

Prime Minister Pearson said there is no intention at the moment to change Canada's trade policy with China. The policy was to trade non-strategic goods only and it was governed by an agreement with Canada's NATO allies.

SEVEN KILLED

Gas Station Explosion 'Went Off Like a Bomb'

HANMER, Ont. (CP) — The body of a teen-age girl was recovered today from the fire-ravaged wreckage of a combined service station and restaurant, raising the toll to seven killed in the explosion which tore apart the building Thursday night.

The victims included two small children, their mothers and grandmother.

Police today completed their identification of the bodies of the children—mutilated almost beyond recognition—and the others who died in the blast, believed sparked by gasoline leaking from a truck that was filling the service station tanks.

Hanmer is a township of about 5,000 persons a few miles north of Sudbury in northern Ontario's nickel belt area.

Searchers dug from the rubble the charred body of JoAnne Marois, 15, who had been missing and presumed dead since the explosion.

The others killed were Mrs. Alma D'Amour, 44; her daughters, Mrs. Estelle Cloutier, 27, and Mrs. Earl Matte, 28; Mrs. Cloutier's 17-month-old son,

Balloting Could End Dispute

Fishermen's Unions Vote on Arbitration

B.C.'s seventy million dollar fishermen's strike seems to be near an end.

With fisheries shoreworkers back on the job as of 8 a.m. today, and union leaders prepared to accept arbitration, net salmon fishermen will now cast their crucial ballots.

Members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) and the Native Brotherhood of B.C. were to vote today on a proposal for a single arbitrator to settle the 21-day dispute.

The Fisheries Association of B.C., representing management, has already agreed to the proposal.

UNION LEADERS AGREED

So have union leaders—with the stipulation that the union will "submit details of our concepts of terms of reference and scope of arbitration."

This stipulation, included in a letter accepting the arbitration proposal put forward by federal Fisheries Minister Robichaud and B.C. Labor Minister Peterson, leads management to believe the union may want matters other than fish price included in the proceedings of the arbitrator.

Fish price and wages are the cause of the strike.

If the union members accept their leaders' recommendation to submit to arbitration, the more than 10,000 brotherhood and union members will be back to work no later than 6 p.m. Sunday.

$10 MILLION COST

So far, the strike has cost more than ten million dollars to an industry valued at about seventy million dollars annually to the province.

The union has asked for 12 cents a pound for pink salmon, the fish usually used for canning. Management has offered 10 cents.

There are wage demands for shoreworkers and tendersmen, and demands about prices on other species of salmon, but the price of pinks seems to be the main dispute.

Adding heat to the dispute has been the phenomenal run of salmon this season.

U.S. fishermen have been having their best sockeye season since 1903, having caught 750,000 sockeye so far this season, estimated at about half the year's run.

PINK HARVEST GOOD

Government Accepts Lett Price

By FRANK RUTTER

In a surprise second look that reversed previous policy, Premier Bennett Thursday announced the government is prepared to pay an extra $21,000,000 for B.C. Electric.

CHRISTINE PAYS OUT

LONDON (AP) — A London court today fined Christine Keeler £6 ($18) for two parking meter offences outside the West End flat where she is staying with a friend.

The 21-year-old playgirl, who once shared a flat with Dr. Stephen Ward, also was ordered to pay costs amounting to £2 2s ($6.30).

Miss Keeler pleaded guilty through her lawyers, but stayed home.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner stuck to his guns that the constitutional right of the government to take over B.C. Electric has to be settled in the courts.

B.C. Power Corporation, the private owners of B.C. Electric, welcomed the premier's decision, but showed no immediate eagerness to accept the new price of $192,828,125.

In fact its chairman, A. Bruce Robertson, indicated the corporation expects an additional sum to compensate for the two years of government control of B.C. Electric.

Lett Price Proper

Mr. Bennett, who made his announcement after a retreat to Kelowna, argued that B.C. Power had asked the courts to set a fair price, this had been done, and should be accepted.

Chief Justice Sherwood Lett in his judgment Monday declaring the takeover illegal set the price at $192,828,125.

Mr. Bennett informed his cabinet of his decision by telephone at a special Thursday afternoon cabinet meeting.

It was obvious as ministers went into the regular morning meeting earlier they did not know about it.

Mr. Bennett also telephoned

GIRL MAY TELL ALL

Dr. Ward Still In Deep Coma

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Stephen Ward failed to respond to treatment for an overdose of drugs and bronchial pneumonia and drifted closer to death today.

A spokesman for St. Stephen's Hospital said Ward's physician "has expressed increasing concern for his patient."

The society osteopath has been in a coma since he took an overdose of drugs Wednesday shortly before he was convicted of living off the earnings of prostitutes.

Ward was breathing with the aid of an artificial lung and receiving nutrition and stimulants intravenously.

NO IMPROVEMENT

He had shown no improvement since Thursday night, when he was said to be barely alive.

Julie Gulliver, 23-year-old red-haired singer, told reporters: "There's a whole crowd of people right now praying for him."

U.S. Sets Arms Embargo On S. Africa

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States announced today it is banning by the end of 1963 the sale of all weapons and military equipment to South Africa because of that country's racial separation policies.

The embargo was disclosed by U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson in a speech before the United Nations Security Council. He spoke after Ghana's Alex Quaison-Sackey had denounced South Africa as an outlaw and asked the council to consider expelling it from the UN.

Judge's Son Indicted For Traffic Homicide

NEW YORK (AP) — A Bronx grand jury today indicted Garth Martinis, a judge's 23-year-old son, for vehicular homicide in a three-car, five-death collision May 19.

District Attorney Isidore Dolinger, had asked the grand jury to consider new charges against young Martinis in a public uproar which followed the five-minute deliberation and acquittal of Martinis by three of his father's colleagues.

Gareth is the son of Criminal Court Judge Joseph A. Martinis.

The 23-member grand jury indicted Martinis on a much graver charge than the counts—reckless and drunken driving, and leaving the scene of an accident—for which he had been tried and freed.

The vehicular homicide indictment contained five counts, one for each person killed in the highway crash. Conviction could result in a five-year sentence for each count.

The indictment also charged Martinis with third-degree assault against the only person who survived the collision with him.

GIVE ME TWO MARTINIS AND ONE BIKINI PLEASE

By DIAL TORGERSON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — That's funny, you think, walking into the dim, cool restaurant from the blazing noon outside. That girl by the end booth seems to be naked.

Not quite, you realize, as your eyes adjust to the gloom. She's wearing something. It's a leopard skin bikini.

A bikini? At high noon? In a restaurant?

"Hi!" says the blue-eyed blonde, when she gets to your booth. "Like my suit? It's simulated leopard. Helanca stretch. It's $22.98, or $19.98 in plain colors."

That's right. It's for sale. You have just walked into what must surely be the ultimate in dry goods merchandising: The Blueplate special fashion show.

About noon each day, when the smog thickens and furrows begin to wear their way into executive foreheads, tiring businessmen crowd into suburban bistros to see what two martinis and a club sandwich will do for the state of the world.

And 50-times each week, in southern California suburbs from the foothills to the sea, the men get something extra: A "fashion review."

The number of fashion shows presented each week is steadily growing, despite the suspicions of countless wives, barbed comments by innumerable secretaries, and outright hostility of those who produce high fashion shows for ladies in the tearooms of the towns.

Leaders of professional modelling groups and fashion salons have termed the astro offerings mere "skin shows." One newspaper denounced them as immoral.

And guess what happened? Business improved.

The whole thing started about four years ago by a restaurant owner with a bored, male luncheon trade and a lingerie store owner who couldn't get men into her shop.

The lingerie lady draped the fluff on statuesque girls,

and marched them past the businessmen at the restaurant.

After the first shock—when a few toothpicks went down with the martini olives—worked out this way:

Businessmen crowded into the fashion show restaurants to ogle and chat with pretty girls clad in bikinis, baby dolls, negligees, bathing suits and the like.

The restaurants, few of whom have costly entertainment licenses, found themselves with a show so spectacular the customers forgot to complain about the service.

And here's the surprising part: The lingerie sales were terrific.

The average man doesn't want to go into a lingerie shop to pick out something for his wife," said Merridy Bell, a retailer who was staging a show in a San Gabriel Valley restaurant. "Here they can see just what it looks like, make their selection, and I go out to the car, get it, and gift wrap it on the spot."

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

(Times News Services)

Winnipeg — Two months ago Alex B. Starikoff rolled out a red carpet for his wife who was home-bound after a two-month vacation.

"Every husband should greet his wife this way," Mr. Starikoff said at that time. And he offered to lend the 60-foot-long carpet to anyone who would make similar use of it.

Since the offer, he admitted this week, both he and the carpet have nearly been run ragged. He's been kept busy delivering it to takers throughout Winnipeg.

A couple of weeks ago Mr. Starikoff agreed to lend it to a theatre for the Winnipeg review of a movie. He didn't know it, but his wife had promised it to someone else.

Rather than disappoint one of the parties, Mr. Starikoff bought another length of carpet.

Now 120 feet of red carpet is available to people who want to welcome home husband or wife.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng.—John Grange, a steward on the liner Oriana, was fined $140 Thursday for biting off a passenger's ear lobe during an argument.

LONDON — For the second night in succession scores of people telephoned the air ministry and the BBC Thursday night to report a mysterious triangular-shaped object seen in the sky over London and nearby counties.

The BBC had more than 100 calls about it and the air ministry reported "a considerable number."

An air ministry spokesman said he could give no explanation for the object.

One man described it as close to the North Star and "brighter than the brightest planet."

DETROIT—John Abraham, 58, appearing in court on a drunk charge was given a sporting chance.

"I'll let you go if you can tell me how many times you have been brought in on a similar charge," recorder's court Judge Frank G. Schemanski told him.

"Sure, 240 times, your honor," Abraham answered promptly.

"You may go," said the judge.

CHICAGO—A 24-year-old accountant is alive and working full time nearly 16 months after his two diseased kidneys were replaced with a single kidney removed from an unrelated dead man.

The case, reported Thursday in the current journal of the American Medical Association, represents the longest recorded life-sustaining survival of a kidney transplanted from a person after death to an unrelated person with chronic kidney disease.

In the operation at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, the donor, a 30-year-old male, was selected purely by chance. He had died in the hospital after open-heart surgery.

ATLANTA—Mrs. Lucy McDonald has been hiccuping since July 8.

Sometimes she hiccups at a fast rate. Sometimes it slows down a bit.

"Right now I'm hiccuping about 13 times a minute," she said Thursday.

"The only time I get any rest from it is at night when I take sleeping pills."

Mrs. McDonald, 38, is a soda fountain clerk. She started hiccuping when she paid a visit to a sister in a hospital.

Doctors said the hiccuping was caused by an attack on the nerves which control diaphragm muscles, possibly a virus.

Customs, Immigration To Have Dual Role

OTTAWA (CP) — Integration of customs and immigration primary inspections at Canada-U.S. border points so that the dual job can be done by one man was announced in the Commons today by Immigration Minister Favreau.

He estimated the ultimate saving at $500,000 a year, and said that although "in time," about 100 job positions would be dropped, no present customs or immigration officers would lose their jobs.

About 200 immigration officers would be transferred to the customs branch of the national revenue department. Mr. Favreau said the doubling up of jobs will involve only the primary inspection or oral questioning by one customs officer and one immigration officer — of returning Canadians and visitors from the United States.

The move would not involve main seaports or international air terminals.

Mr. Favreau said the plan was recommended by the Glassco royal commission on government organization, and would result in both a money saving and faster examination of travellers entering Canada.

LOCAL BRIEFS

A preliminary hearing will be held next Thursday into a charge of possession of stolen property against Ernest E. Dunstan, 80 San Jose.

He is alleged to have had possession of diamond rings stolen in a smash-and-grab raid on Birks' jewellers.

The hearing was scheduled to commence Thursday but had to be postponed because a police witness, Detective Angus Munro, is in hospital.

South Vancouver Island Rangers will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Range Club House, Luxton.

Frank Hall will speak on "August 4, 1914—Why?" at a meeting of Victoria British Israel Association, Monday at 8 p.m. in Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street.

WRITERS SIGNED

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The writing team of Willard and Mary Willingham has been signed by producer Ben Schwalb to work on the final script for the picture, "Gunfight At Comanche Creek."

The picture, to be filmed in color and Cinemascope, will star Audie Murphy.

Divorce Bill Slowed Down

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate gave second reading approval in principle today to a private member's bill to end the parliamentary blockade of divorces from Quebec and Newfoundland, only provinces without divorce courts.

The measure was sent immediately to the Senate banking committee for detailed study after a number of senators charged that the bill takes away from the Senate some of its traditional powers.

Senator W. Ross Macdonald (L—Ontario), government leader, said it is obvious that some changes will be made to the bill while it is in committee. If this takes place the bill will have to be returned to the Commons for its approval of any amendments.

Chief objection to the bill to streamline Parliament's divorce machinery and crack the New Democratic Party blockade of Quebec and Newfoundland divorces was with respect to powers to be granted to a commissioner who would hear evidence in divorce petition.

Under the bill the Senate would grant divorces and in-laws in the form of resolutions on the recommendation of the special officer and the Senate divorce committee.

The Commons gave unanimous approval to the bill Thursday.

Immediately after giving it third and final reading, the Commons passed 250 divorce bills in about 10 minutes. It was the first large block of divorces to receive parliamentary approval in two years.

Sponsored by Nicholas Mandziuk (PC—Marquette), the measure would in effect take divorce cases out of the Commons' hands except in the event of appeals.

Senator Arthur Roebuck, chairman of the Senate divorce committee, Thursday hailed the bill as the solution to the procedural blockade that was erected against divorces by some New Democratic Party MPs.

Senator J. W. de B. Farris (L—British Columbia) told the Senate Thursday he considers the bill as a sop to Arnold Peters (NDP—Timiskaming) and Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena). They have led the Commons divorce blockade, arguing that divorce cases should be taken out of the Commons' hands.

missing. It was presumed she also died in the explosion.

Linda Duguay, 14, suffered head injuries and fractures. She was unconscious and in critical condition.

Giselle Labelle, 15, of Field, Ont., 45 miles west of here, was taken off the critical list. She suffered burns to most of her body and serious knee injury.

Others injured were Rene Menard, 14, burns, condition fair; John Ross, 17, burns to chest and face, condition satisfactory; Edward Thorpe, 27, of Sudbury, the gasoline truck driver, burns, condition satisfactory.

Harry Talinko, 33, and his son Ricky, 9, who were at the garage having repairs done to the family car, were taken to hospital with minor injuries and later were released.

INSPECTORS ARRIVE

Two inspectors from the provincial fire marshal's office in Toronto arrived here early today to inspect the "blasted and burned" debris—a rubbish heap bearing no resemblance to the building that once stood there. A car parked in the garage was picked up and hurled on top of the ruins.

It is believed the gasoline truck, filling the station's tanks, spilled some 35 or 40 gallons minutes before the explosion.

Alex Nepitt of Capreol, driver of a truck across the road at the time, said: "I heard the most tremendous explosion. I thought it was a dynamite blast."

"But I was looking at the garage and saw it lift off its foundation, crumple in the air and then, it blew out all around."

BUILDING DISINTEGRATED

Mrs. Margaret Surch, 20, who also saw the explosion, said: "It was just like in a war movie when a bomb drops on a village. One minute the building was standing . . . then it disintegrated before my eyes."

"Then there were screams. A few young fellows staggered out with their shirts torn from their backs and with blood on them. One woman who was pulled out was lying on the ground covered with blood."

HYDRO CO-OPS TURN DOWN QUEBEC BID

MONTREAL (CP)—The executive of the Quebec Association of Electricity Co-Operatives Thursday rejected the Crown-owned Quebec Hydro Commission's offer to buy its 45 electrical co-operatives.

Executive spokesmen Jean Louis Labbe of Sept-Isles, Gules Thibault of Coaticook and Jean Paul Poulin of Mont Laurier said at a press conference they decided against the Hydro offer because it is only half the worth of the co-ops.

Quebec Hydro is offering $7,614,963 for the co-ops. The co-op leaders place a net value of $15,317,503 on their combined properties.

The executive said it would be in the public interest to merge with Quebec Hydro—as lower consumer rates would result but it wants the individual co-ops to decide for themselves and report their decisions.

4 Sworn to New Judicial Posts

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four new British Columbia judicial appointees were sworn in at two ceremonies here Thursday.

Chief Justice Sherwood Lett of the Supreme Court took his oath as chief justice of the B.C. Appeal Court, replacing Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay who is retiring.

Mr. Justice Norman Whitaker, moving to the appeal court from the supreme court, was sworn in at the same ceremony in the chambers of Mr. Justice H. I. Bird of the appeal court.

Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes of the supreme court officiated at the swearing-in of Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, new chief justice of the supreme court, and Vancouver lawyer Victor Dryer, who became a supreme court jurist.

The appointments were announced by Justice Minister Chevrier-June 28.

Teach News Reading

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—A University of Georgia professor says students from the fourth grade through graduate school should be taught to read the daily newspapers effectively. Dr. Ira Aaron told a group of teachers Wednesday that too many students don't have enough experience in thinking along with their reading. "Many know little about the paper except the comics and sports page."

JFK Continues Rights Fight In Face of Popularity Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Kennedy pledged to continue the struggle for civil rights laws because he feels that "this is a national crisis of great proportions" and must be resolved.

The president told his press conference Thursday that despite possible loss in political prestige and popularity he feels "every effort should be made to protect the rights of all of our citizens, and advance their right to equality of opportunity."

At the same time, Kennedy said he believes Negro demonstrations are lessening partly because of the work done in the communities and partly because Congress is considering the problems.

The president spoke on a day marked by demonstrations in New York, Chicago and several other cities. Other developments included a court order to desegregate public parks and playgrounds in New Orleans, the acceptance of a Negro student at the University of South Carolina, and the naming of the first Negro to the U.S. Davis Cup tennis team.

In addition, the president of the National Urban League called for improvement of the lot of the Negro in all aspects.

"Unless there will be work for Negroes after the present crisis, what practical good will it have served?" asked Henry Steeger during an interview at Los Angeles. "A Negro may be able to buy a house anywhere then, but he can't if he hasn't a job."

Seven sit-in demonstrators were taken into custody at the Manhattan office of Republican Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller after they blocked the entrance. Two of them were carried away by police.

But at Charleston, S.C., Negro leaders ordered a halt to downtown demonstrations after 87 small businessmen agreed to identify themselves and accept a six-point desegregation program.

$100,000 BAIL SET FOR DRUG KINGPINS

TORONTO (UPI) — A dozen persons arraigned in court here Thursday on charges of conspiracy to traffic narcotics were remanded until August 8.

Bail of $100,000 was set for the two men, another was refused bail and the remaining nine were offered bail ranging from $50 to $5,000.

The group appeared in court after RCMP smashed what they called Canada's biggest narcotics syndicate.

RED CHINA CONTINUES TEST BAN BLAST

World Conference Urged

PEKING (Reuters) — The leading Chinese Communist newspaper People's Daily today said the banning of nuclear weapons must be discussed and decided jointly by all countries.

Rusk Set to Broaden U.S.-Russia Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dean Rusk leaves for Moscow tonight to sign the partial nuclear test ban treaty and to explore the chances of further East-West understanding.

The signing of the treaty, in which the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain pledge to abstain from testing in the atmosphere, in outer space and under water, will be a ceremonial affair Monday.

The pact was initiated last Thursday by Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, Britain's science minister, Lord Hailsham, and Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister.

Rusk will be accompanied to Moscow by high administration officials and six senators — four Democrats and two Republicans.

Rusk has been invited to remain in the Soviet Union after the signing ceremony, and the Moscow conferences are expected to last three or four days.

KENNEDY OPENS DOOR FOR DE GAULLE

Nuclear Olive Branch Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has indicated the United States has offered France more nuclear co-operation if it agrees to the nuclear test ban treaty.

"But we have received no response from the French government, other than the remarks of Gen. de Gaulle at his press conference," Kennedy said. Monday, de Gaulle snubbed the American, British and Soviet agreement to ban all nuclear tests except under ground. He said France would continue with development of its own nuclear striking force.

U.S. sources said, however, that Kennedy doesn't consider this to be de Gaulle's final word. At Kennedy's press conference Thursday, he was asked if the United States has considered giving France some of the U.S. nuclear weapons secrets in order that France might stop its own tests.

BRITAIN AIDED

To receive American nuclear assistance under the Atomic Energy Act, France must demonstrate substantial nuclear progress on its own. So far, only Britain has received the U.S. nuclear aid.

But Kennedy said he considers France also to be a nuclear power "in terms of the Atomic Energy Act."

Kennedy said there has been some nuclear co-operation with France. He cited as an example the French aircraft with U.S. missiles which are based in Germany "for the defence of the alliance."

OUTLINES VIEWS

Here in brief are some of Kennedy's views on other major topics:

Nuclear Treaty — The Senate, after careful consideration, will vote to ratify the agreement to ban nuclear tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water. "It would be a great mistake not to."

Underground Tests — The United States intends to continue testing nuclear weapons underground. (Such tests would not be banned by the treaty).

Civil Rights — Indications that his policies on civil rights are costing him heavily in political prestige and popularity are "probably right." However, "this is a national crisis of great proportions... my judgment is that both political parties finally will come to the same conclusion, and that is that every effort should be made to protect the rights of all of our citizens, and advance their right to equality of opportunity."

Far East — Chinese troop concentrations north of India's frontier and broadcasts out of Peking indicate "the potentiality is there for a turn for the worse" in the Far East. The U.S. hopes there will not be a flare-up which would bring a direct conflict "and we cannot say as of yet there have been any actions which would indicate that in a final way that hope would be denied at this time."

Wave of the Future

MR. MARTIN'S RECENT TESTIMONY to the defence committee of Parliament — a guarded but highly significant document — should be placed against several striking facts.

The taxpayers of Canada have willingly provided billions of dollars for defence purposes since the last world war but according to Lieutenant General Geoffrey Walsh, Chief of the General Staff, a witness before the defence committee, the Canadian army does not yet have sufficient forces to fulfill its commitments to NATO in Europe at a time of emergency while maintaining its requirements at home. Our European forces, says General Walsh, are not fully equipped and those at home are in an even worse condition.

Why, in at least one vital aspect of defence, have we received so unsatisfactory a return on our large military investment? Is the investment too small? Have we failed to spend enough?

That conclusion, as The Toronto Globe and Mail remarks, is ridiculous in view of the gigantic expenditures during the postwar years. Rather the Army's lack of adequate equipment must be taken as evidence of waste on the grand scale and such waste has been identified in detail by the Glasco Commission.

Presumably Mr. Hellyer, the energetic minister of defence, is considering the Glasco Report among other things and no doubt he is studying also the tough administrative methods applied in the United States by Mr. McNamara, the secretary of defence, who has annoyed many people by his business-like economies but has managed to save huge sums of taxpayer's money.

Already Mr. Hellyer has set up a special committee, headed by Dr. R. J. Sutherland, of the Defence Research Board, to re-examine all military spending and this is a hopeful start.

But it seems clear from Mr. Martin's evidence before the parliamentary defence committee that the government is re-examining long-term military plans as distinguished from day-to-day management. In Mr. Martin's view (one trusts he is not too optimistic) the rival powers of the world are groping toward a "more civilized relationship," as indicated by the nuclear test ban treaty. When conditions change for the better, Mr. Martin thinks, Canada's major contribution to defence may be to the United Nations whose peace-keeping machinery "probably represents the wave of the future."

For a long time to come, however, Mr. Martin adds, the free world's massive deterrent must be maintained and Canada is helping, in a small way, to maintain it by accepting nuclear weapons.

Yet the threat to the West, Mr. Martin believes, is changing in its nature: "The contest will go on, but its arena will be increasingly in the ideological and trade spheres, with much attention being paid to winning the support of the less-developed countries."

In a situation changing basically, and perhaps rapidly, the problem of a relatively small nation like Canada, Mr. Martin says, is to "decide how much of our limited military resources to put into the deterrent forces which will have to be maintained for a long time and how much to devote to developing international machinery for the preservation of peace."

Here Mr. Martin seems to be re-visiting a goal long sought by Mr. Pearson — the creation of a multipurpose and highly mobile Canadian force quickly available to our allies or to the United Nations in bush-fire wars before they escalate into great wars. That is a hopeful project but clearly Canada cannot afford it on top of its present defence plans when its national budget remains in appalling deficit.

Under all these conditions — a possible improvement in the international climate, the unsatisfactory state of our existing defence posture and the state of our budget — it is no wonder that, as Mr. Martin plainly intimates, the government is considering fundamental changes in direction. They will be awaited with interest, especially by the taxpayers.

A Conciliatory Move

IN ANNOUNCING THAT THE government is willing to meet the price of some $192 millions for the B.C. Electric suggested by Chief Justice Lett, Mr. Bennett has moved to bring a great deal of clarification to the confused hydro picture in this province.

The new price is about $20 millions more than the government had paid as its final assessment of the company's worth but is still far less than the up to $250 millions which B.C. Power Corporation has argued would be a fair price. In such an assessment the layman must depend upon expert appraisers who themselves may not be in agreement.

If on the basis of the premier's expressed willingness to do business, the corporation and the government can reach agreement on a fair price for the property then a good start will have been made toward rescuing the province's power from its present chaotic condition.

The constitutional issue, of course, still remains, and a final decision should be pursued through the higher courts. The question of a province's right to take over utilities in which an element of federal jurisdiction may be involved must be answered now that it has been raised. But it is essential that the transfer of the B.C. Electric, the legal existence of the Hydro Authority and the future of the vast power developments in prospect for the province be clarified without waiting for years for a court decision on the constitutional question. The property transfer, if negotiated as a voluntary sale and not an expropriation, might make this possible.

In any event, Mr. Bennett has made a commendable concession as a step in the direction of remedying the mess he created.

Unexploited Fisheries?

ONE ASPECT OF THE STRIKE of British Columbia salmon fishermen may produce international repercussions of a type most injurious to the Canadian industry.

When Canadian, American and Japanese delegates recessed their meeting called to consider renewal of the three-nation North Pacific fisheries treaty, Japan raised objection to the "abstention principle" written into the original convention.

Under this principle, if one or more of the parties to a treaty are exploiting a fish stock to the full, and are restricting their fishing by regulations based on scientific research in order to maintain the fish stock at a productive level, the other party or parties will abstain from entering the fishery.

When the wandering salmon, homeward bound for their spawning beds, are not being exploited to the full by Canadian fishermen, because Canadian fishermen are on strike, will the Canadian-American argument for the abstention principle lose strength? What is to stop the Japanese from arguing that the fisheries have not been fully exploited, that the principle no longer applies and that they are coming in as close as the territorial limit?

coming north of the river, was contested territory.

By a recent decision, the United States has recognized Mexican claims to the 437 acres and Mexican leaders have suggested an admirable use for this valuable piece of real estate — the campus for a large international university.

What better way to dedicate a tract whose disputed ownership has been settled in a way which Mexico's president calls "a victory of law and reason"?

THE LAST RESORT

Hoodlums Go Home

There have been complaints that rowdies are using the public camping parks for drinking parties or just to create a disturbance.

The complaints have been treated seriously by some, but viewed as not very serious by others. The degree of seriousness, it seems to me, varies with the time of day and the place of contemplation. Back in town, in daylight, you can achieve a reasonably academic viewpoint on the question. But around midnight, with your ear to the ground and your thoughts contained in a sleeping bag, halfwit rowdism in campsites takes on a different aspect. There is nothing academic about being kept awake by a damn fool.

The Goldstream campers appear to have suffered a more aggravating infestation of the rowdies. Use of the campsites for drink-and-run parties should be discouraged immediately. It should be made such an expensive pastime that even the most well-heeled heel will shy away from the thought.

These public camps are an escape for decent people from city hoodlumism.

FROM PHILADELPHIA

Almost Unbearably Painful Experience

FOR any fairly prosperous white American, who is also proud of his country, on-the-spot reporting of the civil rights crisis in a big Northern city like this one is an almost unbearably painful experience.

If anything, the situation of the Negroes here in Philadelphia is rather better than in most of the great Northern cities. But go into Philadelphia's Negro slums with their countless blocks of half-ruinous row houses, in which it is not uncommon to find 20 or 30 people living in six filthy little rooms, with a single, unspeakable common toilet.

You find squalid, teacher-short high schools from which more than three-quarters of the children drop out before completing the course. You are led to one 12-block area where 80 per cent of the young were found to be jobless by a recent survey.

You hear such tales of slum landlordism as the case of the respectable and hard-working Negro woman who is fruitlessly trying to collect damages, because the floor of her apartment gave way, dropping her into the next apartment, where the floor also gave way, dropping her onto another unfortunate woman in the cellar and gravely injuring them both.

Improvement

"Things are better," people tell you. But when you ask how much better, you get an answer as I got from one of the leaders of the Philadelphia Ministers Conference, Rev. Amos Brackeen. He had been explaining how the Ministers Conference was using the weapon of the boycott to break job discrimination in large local industries.

"You can't imagine what it means to my people," he said very simply, "to see the gas meter being read or a few cases of soft drinks being delivered by men of their own race. Those are jobs involving money, receipts, paper work. They weren't jobs for Negroes before just the other day."

Of such data, a few days' work will produce enough to fill a book. And on every page of that book will be written the shame, the dishonor, the failure of American society.

The nine Americans in ten who belong to the affluent America should be sentenced by law to spend a day a week in that "other America" that you find in the slums of North Philadelphia. See at first hand, and the actual physical impulse to cry out for instantaneous, radical remedies is not easy to restrain.

Bitter Truth

See the situation at first hand, furthermore, and you will learn the bitter truth that although discrimination is being worn away by daily pressure, the underlying problem is still growing more difficult rather than more easy. Already, the earnings of Negro women are estimated to exceed the earnings of Negro men by as much as 80 per cent.

There should be no fooling around about whose interests come first.

I have not encountered the sylvan party-goers in any of the Island camps I have visited. But in some of them the local loutery take advantage of a captive audience to display their mental retardation.

I gathered once at the Stamp Falls camp that it was the practice of the local retardees to spend part of the late Saturday night hours driving noisily around the circular camp road, giving an occasional hoot or catcall. Even they grew tired of it around midnight and left the campers to their slumber.

At Miracle Beach this year several youthful motorists drove interminably around the campsite one night, ended up with a few distant yells and took themselves off to wherever such people go. It was a petty annoyance rather than a serious misdemeanor. But it's something that must be discouraged.

The public should realize that these campsites and there should be many more of them — are for many citizens the last summer stand against encroaching urbanization. Drive up-island with a sleeping bag and a small tent and see how many places you can find to make yourself at home for a night.

Fences, motels, "no trespassing" signs, and spreading house construction have taken nearly all the best places, the lesser places and even the poor places. Unless you are equipped to go well off the beaten path — if you can find a beaten path that does not lead you over logging company-owned ground — you will be confined to doing business with a camping ground proprietor or pitching your tent at one of the park campsites. And if you want a piece of waterfront — salt or fresh — you'll have to arrive mighty early.

This scarcity is a fact of life which non-campers do not realize, yet they too are vitally concerned in what happens to the recreational areas of our country. Large chunks can even be chopped off our existing parks and the public in general is not stirred to indignation and action.

When British Columbians can get as worked up over losing a park as they can about losing a parking lot, we shall have taken a big step towards ensuring that an adequate amount of this great land is going to remain for the people's holiday use. It's little enough to ask, considering what we have already lost.

So the idea that hoodlums may encroach on even the existing camps is particularly abhorrent. Impounding a few cars on the spot, for a month or two, might work wonders.

By JOSEPH ALSOP

There are more unskilled jobs open for women than for men; so the men rot in idleness and the women keep them.

Every building that installs automatic elevators abolishes four or eight or ten Negro jobs. Every industrial process improved to eliminate rough, strong-backed work eliminates 30 or 40 or 50 Negro jobs. And in Negro ghettos, educational deprivation has always gone hand-in-hand with economic deprivation; so those who lose their jobs as common laborers are never able to find jobs as skilled workers.

Wider Problem

This is not just a Negro problem, either. In the "other America" of economic and educational deprivation the national statistics show that more than half the inhabitants are white men and women and children in depressed areas or unlucky cities or impoverished rural regions. The time has come — indeed, the time came long ago — for a massive national effort to help all the inhabitants of this "other America" to escape into normal American society.

For the Negro people, the end of racial discrimination is the most essential part of that effort. For all the inhabitants of the "other America," huge investments are also needed, in education above all, but also in job-retraining programs, in some sort of revived CCC to make a bridge into normal life for the jobless young people, and so on and on.

Even then, the problem will not be solved for the Negro people, unless their leaders quickly begin to recognize an additional duty besides the duty to be militant against discrimination. Resignation, hopelessness, the feeling that "it's no use learning to do jobs that aren't for Negroes," have played and still continue to play as large a role in Negro educational deprivation as the shocking badness of so many segregated schools.

Only the Negro leaders can combat these ingrained attitudes of their own people. Only the Negro leaders can stimulate the block-by-block organization that is needed to combat slum conditions, and to insure better schools by strong parent-teacher organizations, and in many other ways to work from the grass roots to make life better.

Only the Negro leaders, in short, can make sure their people are ready to pass through the doors when the doors open at last. As for the rest of us, our task is to insure that the doors open wide and open fast; and if we fail, we shall be delict in our duties to our country and our God.

Accepted Balance

By WALTER LIPPMANN
from Washington

WHILE the first step does not take us all the way or indeed very far, it is crucial. For it shows which way we have decided to go. And so, while it is quite true that the political test ban does not mean that there is peace and no further danger of war, it does mean that the two great nuclear powers have agreed that neither will go all out in the effort to achieve absolute nuclear superiority and with it total world supremacy.

This agreement does not end the race of armaments. But it changes radically the race of armaments — its purpose and its pace. As long as there is no limit on testing, particularly in the atmosphere, there is a high premium on the effort to search for an absolute weapon — say an anti-missile missile which could destroy the deterrent of the adversary or some kind of super-bomb which, launched without notice, could annihilate the adversary.

While the proposed test ban does not prohibit entirely the search for the absolute weapon, it slows up that search sufficiently to make it most improbable that either country will produce the absolute weapon. For while the search can continue in the laboratories and underground, there is no present scientific prospect that this will produce the absolute weapon.

So far-reaching an agreement would not have been arrived at, we must assume, if both countries had not learned from their experiments and their studies that even with unlimited testing in the atmosphere there was no reasonable chance of a breakthrough to the absolute weapon.

Prize or Penalty

If there were a good chance, the prize would be so dazzlingly great and the penalty so horrible that neither country would have been willing to give up the search. We are entitled to believe that both countries have accepted the ban because they have learned that the search is so dangerous, so costly and so useless.

In renouncing the search for the absolute weapon, the Soviet Union and the United States are accepting as unchangeable, but tolerable, the existence of an effective balance of nuclear forces between them. We are mutually deterred from striking at each other, and the nuclear stalemate prevents either of us from demanding an unconditional surrender from the other.

We are compelled to co-exist, however uncomfortably and unamiably, since neither of us has absolute power and both of us would be irreparably hurt if either of us acted as if he had absolute power.

After everything useful, cautionary and prudent has been said about how this treaty is only a first step, there is no doubt that it is a very important step.

What about the second step? Here we can move with deliberation. For we can remind ourselves that there is a considerable difference between first steps and second steps. The first step sets the general direction. If that direction is west, then the direction is not east, south or north. Once the direction has been set, say in Chicago, to go west, there are many goals and paths that can be taken all in the direction of the Pacific Ocean.

Non-Aggression

As regards West Germany, which the Russians fear so much, Moscow should remember that there has existed for nearly nine years as complete a commitment to non-aggression as the lawyers could devise.

Before West Germany was admitted to NATO, it issued a declaration that "the German Federal Republic undertakes never to have recourse to force to achieve the re-unification or the modification of the present boundaries of the German Federal Republic and to resolve by peaceful means any disputes which may arise between the Federal Republic and the other states."

There is no reason why this same declaration, redrafted to commit all the NATO states, should not be made parallel with a comparable declaration by the Soviet government and its European allies.

The point which troubles the West Germans is not that they wish to weaken the solemn commitment to their own allies. It is that in some indirect way the non-aggression agreement which Mr. K. is asking for would, as Dr. Von Brentano has just put it, "lead to a freezing of the unsatisfactory political situation in the world, particularly in Europe."

Partition Frozen

In my view, this freezing will not be prevented by diplomatic nit-picking about how much recognition of East Germany is involved in every agreement between Eastern and Western Europe. The fact is that the partition of Germany is now frozen and has been frozen for years, and the West German rule of refusing to accept any measure, however limited, to increase intercourse between the two Germanys is the reason why the West has never had any policy realistically designed to unfreeze the partition.

What we should be doing now, I believe, is to take a positive instead of a negative line. Instead of the nit-picking to avoid any indirect recognition of the division of Germany, we should open up the long, difficult, but not necessarily hopeless, discussion of the terms of German reunification. If the Germans are to become reunified, they are bound to pay a price for it.

Sometime in the not too distant future there will be Germans who are more interested in reunification than in the small business about the degree of diplomatic recognition. Then we shall begin to find out whether Mr. Khrushchev will and can prevent the reunification of Germany.

Little, Unremembered Acts

PERHAPS Mr. Wordsworth said it all when he defined "The best portion of a good man's life" as "his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love."

The lines come fresh again with a report from Mrs. P. J. Le Dain, who, like Mrs. A. W. Murphy, cherishes the English skylarks which have spread north from their original adopted home in Lansdowne field to the meadows close to the Sidney Experimental Farm.

When men were cutting the hay in that area this year, Mrs. Le Dain says, they first watched skylarks dropping down from their soaring song flights to nesting places on the ground. They marked the points where the birds landed and put up temporary fences to save the grass from the mowers.

"They couldn't protect all the nests," said Mrs. Le Dain, "but they did the best they could and they won't be cutting there until the fledglings are able to look after them selves."

In the larger scheme of things, or in the practical interests of zoology, it may not be important that having crews should check their harvest to spare a few song birds. It is important, though, that men should have such sentiments and act upon them.

Must be pretty good people out there.

While the pipes were playing "The Road to the Isles" and the drummers were rattling out their precision accompaniments as they gave the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society a send-off on the flight to Britain Tuesday night, a smiling Scots woman offered a complimentary observation.

"They keep asking me if I'm going on the flight," she said. "I tell them, no, I know when I've found a good country and I'm happy to stay here."

Workmen, ripping out the old wood to renew foundations of a neighbor's summer home at Shawinigan the other day, came across a secret cupboard. In it they found a cache of canned food, unfortunately left too long to be of any consumable value now.

This was in the house built by the late Peter Steele for the happy family that inherited from him a spirit of generosity and friendliness—a home where there was always room for one more at the dinner table.

The food cache was put in by Pete, presumably sometime during the last war when he thought it might be needed if things went too badly for our side. That is one explanation.

I'm inclined to another. During the hungry 'thirties, some of the boys riding the freights used to drop off at Cliffside, make their ways to the lake and occasionally break into an unoccupied summer home for a place to sleep—and to eat, if there was food.

Pete's place was entered that way. He came up one weekend, unlocked the back door and saw a young fellow leave by the front window. The young fellow had been sleeping there and had eaten all the provisions Pete had laid in. A lot of us were indignant about the intrusion and the theft. But not Pete.

"Damn it all," he said, "if your son had been homeless and hungry and had found a place as comfortable as this to sleep in, and food to eat, you'd have been pretty grateful, wouldn't you?"

I think Pete laid in the secret cache against the possibility of another intrusion, so he'd have something to eat himself if the stock on his pantry shelves had been exhausted by a raider. It's a concept I have from memories of one of the kindest and most gentle men I ever knew.

HOME GARDEN

BY JACK BEASTALL

No Secret to Starting Slips

Taking cuttings of favorite shrubs and rooting them is the habit of most home gardeners. Some have success, some are not so fortunate.

Quite a few gardeners will express the belief that there is some secret which the commercial growers will not divulge, otherwise they could not have the apparently consistent results.

If there is any secret I have never discovered it in all my years of nursery work.

A good catch depends 99 per cent on experience, on some kind of an instinct that develops through the years which tells you to act at once or wait another week.

And even this experience, or instinct, can be unreliable. In the trade the failures and successes about balance out, and no individual knows why it is impossible to obtain the same results year after year when the same processes are followed.

Instinct is something that cannot be translated into words, and this leads to the belief that secrets are being guarded.

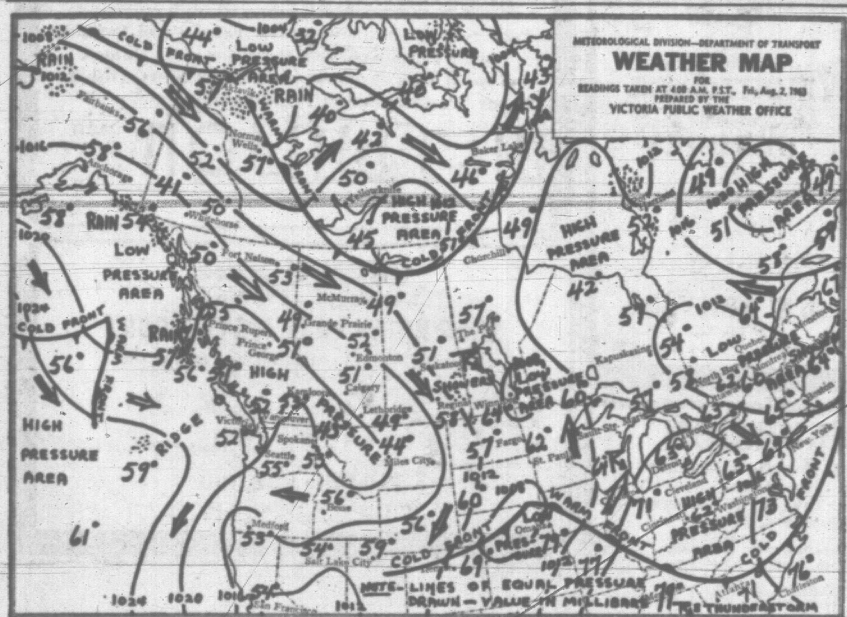

The quantity of cuttings taken at one time is another factor. When the nurseryman takes 100 and loses 50 he has 50 per cent luck. When the gardener takes one and loses it he has 100 per cent loss.

Since we are dealing with living tissue we are not in control of the material with which we work. The current season, the past season, the changes that occur in soil and its store of food and moisture, the health of the subject itself, and the state of maturity of the growths, are all variables which affect the results.

Now should be a good time to take half-ripe cuttings of most shrubs. Take a dozen or more of your favorites from different parts of the bush. Take more in 10 days time. Keep records of when and where, and weather conditions also.

In 20 years you may be a professional with your services in constant demand by those now supposed to know the secrets!

Political Leaders Plan for Holidays

OTTAWA (CP)—Three of Canada's four national party leaders will hang "gone fishing" signs on their office doors this month, and a fourth will take a politician's holiday in Sweden.

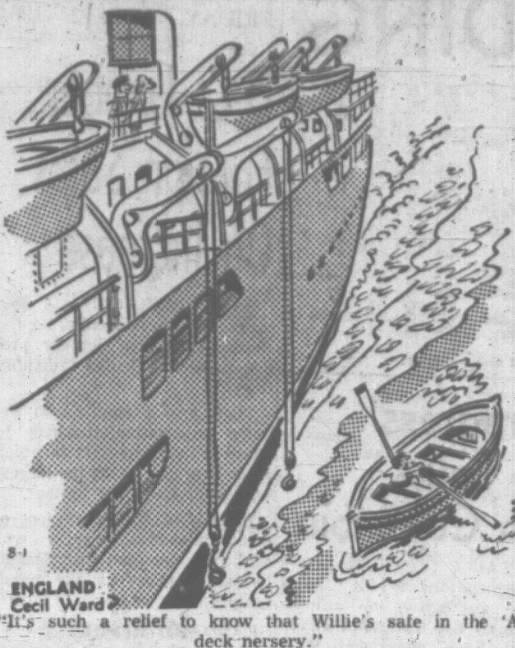

Prime Minister Pearson will fulfil a number of speaking engagements in various parts of Canada. He plans to concentrate on two weeks at Harrington Lodge, north of Ottawa, during which he will fish and relax while keeping in touch with government business in the capital by telephone and courier.

Conservative Leader Diefenbaker has one or two party engagements but will spend about two weeks in northern Saskatchewan, in his Prince Albert home, fishing at Waskesiu Lake, and generally keeping an ear to the prairie political ground.

Social Credit Leader Thompson has weekend engagements in Alberta and British Columbia. He then will spend 10 days at his home in Red Deer, returning to his Ottawa office later in the month to fulfil some Eastern Canada engagements.

New Democratic Party Leader Douglas, after attending his party's annual convention in Regina next week, will go to Sweden for several weeks to familiarize himself with conditions and political trends in that country.

MPs Now Cut Above U.S. Congressmen

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian MP is going to be a cut above his American counterpart in terms of take-home pay after the tax-gatherer makes his annual levy.

Under Canada's new parliamentary pay scale, the individual MP without other income or dependents will net about $1,300 more than a United States congressman or senator after paying his income tax.

However, the American legislator receives out of public funds considerably more than the Canadian for such additional expenses as offices, secretarial and research assistance.

There's an even wider gap between the take-home pay of an individual Canadian cabinet minister under the new pay scale and an American cabinet member. The Canadian is $9,760 ahead of his American counterpart.

The American congressman or senator is paid $22,500 a year on which he pays income tax. For an individual, this means a total tax bite of $8,675.90 if he has no other income or dependents, leaving him a take-home pay of $13,824.10.

The new parliamentary pay scale provides a member of the House of Commons with a taxable indemnity of $12,000 plus a tax-free $6,000 expense allowance. From this $18,000 the Canadian MP nets $15,130 if he's without dependents or other income, after paying a tax of $2,870.

Because the Canadian cabinet minister really has two jobs—as MP and minister—he receives two salaries totalling $35,000. He gets $18,000 as an MP and $17,000 as a minister. After paying tax totalling $10,570 on all but the tax-free $6,000, the Canadian cabinet minister nets $24,430.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Acceptance of BCE Valuation Makes Fast Settlement Possible

Times Business Editor

Premier Bennett's acceptance of the $192,828,125 valuation of B.C. Electric shares made by Chief Justice Sherwood. Lett opens the door to speedy settlement of the tangled B.C. Hydro mess.

While B.C. Power Corp. officials may be inclined to quibble over the figure and to demand compensation for lost earnings over the past two years, they are generally expected to make the best of a bad bargain without too much delay.

The Lett valuation, along with remaining B.C. Power assets valued at around $10,000,000 puts a value of about $202.83 million on B.C. Power shares and shareholder pressure to accept a settlement at that point is bound to be fairly strong.

The alternative, of dragging the fight through the courts for several more years—with a reversal of the Lett judgment always a possibility—would seem most unattractive.

Largest single shareholder in B.C. Power, with 230,000 shares, is Power Corp. of Canada Ltd. and at $42.50 a share it stands to make a reasonable profit on the deal.

Market value of Power Corp's holdings in B.C. Power as of June 1, 1961, just before the takeover, was $7,820,000.

If a settlement is made now Power Corp. will get about $9,775,000 in cash, including the disbursements already made, which it should be able to invest in some useful and constructive manner.

Balance of the B.C. Power shares is believed to be held in relatively small blocks, compared with the Power Corp. holding, and a large part is believed to be held by speculative buyers to whom the $23.80 per share valuation for remaining assets of the company represents a good capital gain.

distinctive and attractive modern decor.

An added attraction is that the young women employees have been chosen not only on the basis of skill at their jobs but also for how well their looks match their decorative surroundings.

On the more business-like side, the bank is believed to be the most fully-automated in the world. Checking accounts, savings accounts, interest computations, instalment loan books and payments and general ledger and payroll accounts are all handled by electronic calculators.

The bank will even use its equipment to do a business customer's bookkeeping including business and cost distribution, accounts receivable and payable, and payrolls.

"Scalp tension, a sign of the times, is one cause of your hair loss," says trichologist M. D. Harrison to balding men. Harrison directs the famous Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists, whose main office is in Vancouver. He will be here to advise men how to correct hair troubles by home treatment.

How to save and improve your hair demonstrated by expert here today and tomorrow

New home treatment methods for preventing baldness — and growing thicker hair — will be demonstrated in Victoria.

This news was released here today by M. D. Harrison, internationally famous director of Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists.

In his announcement, Harrison said that he himself will conduct the Victoria clinic. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m., Friday and Saturday, August 2 and 3 at the Hotel Sussex.

Examine You Free
"I want to make it clear that you incur no charge or obligation by seeing me," director Harrison said.

"Your only obligation is to yourself—to free your mind of worries about hair loss, dandruff, itching, or other scalp disorders, by learning how to take care of your hair. If your trouble is beyond the scope of Harrison Home Treatment, we will frankly tell you so. But less than five per cent of the people we examine are 'hopeless'."

Offers No Cure-All
Harrison emphasized that his new home treatment is neither "mail-order" nor "cure-all."

"We always make a personal examination before suggesting any treatment," he pointed out. "There is no one cure-all that will correct every one of the 18 scalp disorders that cause most baldness."

Harrison said that sometimes your treatment must be changed after a few weeks to get best results. "For this reason, you mail regular reports of your hair progress to the Harrison headquarters in Vancouver."

"Also, your scalp condition is checked personally by a Harrison trichologist at regular intervals."

Who Can Be Helped?
Will this new treatment cure baldness? "No," said Harrison sincerely. "We cannot help men who are sick-bald after years of gradual hair loss. But where your scalp still grows hair, we can at least save and improve what you have. Usually, we can grow more hair even where you have only 'fuzz' now."

The important thing is: Don't wait until it's too late! Best evidence of the success of Harrison treatment is the phenomenal growth of the organization behind it. Harrison and his affiliates maintain treatment clinics in Canada, the U.S. and Mexico. And their staff trichologists regularly do extension work in more than 100 other cities.

Leonard A. Floyd before and after scalp treatment. Untreated photographs made four months apart.

Satisfy 95%

"Our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim to do," declared Harrison. "We satisfy more than 95 per cent of our clients, and have records to prove it."

"But to overcome the average man's initial skepticism is sometimes difficult. He's usually quite desperate—and baldish — by the time he nerves himself to see a Harrison trichologist. He's tried everything. So he starts consoling himself with one of the old superstitions about hair: That baldness is hereditary; that men naturally lose hair as they get along in years; that nothing can be done to stop hair loss—and a lot of other notions that we know are not true today."

Free Scalp Examination
See Mr. Harrison in person. Learn how baldness can be stopped, and new hair grown on your own scalp. The new Harrison method permits you to actually stop your baldness and regrow hair in the privacy of your own home.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk at the Hotel Sussex between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. for Mr. Harrison's suite number.

You don't need an appointment. You won't be embarrassed or obligated in any way. Examinations are given in private.

Salmon Fry Poisoned By Millions

VANCOUVER (CP) — The pilot and owner of an aircraft that sprayed mosquito repellent near a spawning ground have been charged under the Fisheries Act following the death of at least hundreds of thousands of young salmon fry.

W. R. Hourston, area director of fisheries, said Thursday at least 250,000 young sockeye salmon and spring salmon which had been hatched this spring were found dead after the spraying.

The fish were washed ashore at Shuswap and Little Shuswap lakes, adjoining the Adams River spawning grounds — one of the richest in the province — about 50 miles east of Kamloops.

FIRM, PILOT CHARGED

Charged are Skyway Air Services Ltd. of Langley and the plane's pilot, whose name was not available. The air services were hired to spray a compound by a local resident. They are charged under Section 33 of the Fisheries Act, which deals with water pollution.

The case is scheduled to be heard in Kamloops police court Aug. 12.

Local residents said the 250,000 estimate of fish killed is too low. Some say millions of fry were killed. One counted 95 fish in one lineal foot of beach.

In 1958, 10,000,000 sockeye were caught from the Adams River run.

OILY SUBSTANCE

Mr. Hourston said millions of fry from last year's Adams River run are in the Shuswap lakes. They will go down to salt water next spring.

After spraying — close to the outlet of the Adams River and over Little Shuswap Lake and Little River — residents found an oily substance along eight miles of shoreline.

They reported to the fisheries department and investigators of the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission and the fisheries department were sent to the area.

As a result of biological findings, charges were laid.

Lodge on View

CAMPBELL RIVER — A $50,000 construction and rebuilding program has been completed at Strathcona Park Lodge on Buttle and Upper Campbell Lakes.

Hosts Jim and Myrna Boulding are holding "open house" this Saturday with the public invited to inspect the many new additions and features and make use free for the day, of all facilities.

The three-month building program has seen a big change in the lodge. A new wing has been added to the east side of the main lodge, and the building completely renovated and refurnished. New wing contains a coffee shop, dining room and new kitchen.

ACUTE KIDNEY AILMENT
has put Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan back in hospital, informed sources in Moscow reported Thursday. Mikoyan, 69, has been in and out of hospital since early May, when he caught cold at arrival ceremonies for Cuban Premier Castro.

Ferry Service Needs Boost, Fridays Too

VANCOUVER (CP) — A spokesman for the Gulf Island Commuters' Association said today extension of Sunday service by the new government ferry Queen of the Islands is a step in the right direction.

But extension of Friday service also is needed.

Dr. H. D. Barner of Vancouver, said effective Sunday the ferry will make three round trips from Tsawwassen to Long Harbor instead of two. But weekday sailings are being kept at two a day.

"The next step should be an extension of the Friday evening service," he said.

Islanders have complained that the 40-car ferry has left many motorists stranded on Sundays.

M. F. Aldous, general manager of the government ferry service, said complaints were to be expected. It was a new service and "we are solving the problems as fast as we come to them."

NURSE, 74, SLAIN

TORONTO (UPI) — A 74-year-old nurse was found bludgeoned to death in a laneway between the city hall annex and the annex of a department store Thursday. Police said the victim, Miss Frances Mary Phillips, a nurse at Toronto General Hospital, had been raped.

Twin Canals Planned for Welland

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister McRae announced today the government plans to proceed immediately with a five-year, $180,000,000 project to twin the Welland Canal between Lake Ontario and Lake Erie.

Mr. McRae said also that a new lock would be built at Cornwall, Ont., "as soon as studies indicate that it is warranted."

This lock — when undertaken — would make the St. Lawrence Seaway an all-Canadian route from Montreal right through into the Great Lakes.

Mr. McRae said the twinning of five locks in the 27-mile Welland Canal will increase the capacity of the waterway by 60 per cent and eliminate congestion which has delayed traffic in recent years.

Work will start this year but the major project will commence in the fall of 1964 and continue until 1968. Between 4,000 and 6,000 workers are expected to be employed on the construction project, which will span four full years, including five winters.

Mr. McRae also indicated an election promise by former prime minister Diefenbaker. Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said the twinning has the complete support of the Progressive Conservative party.

Opinion of Top Court a Must In BCE Case Says Former A-G

The constitutional challenge to British Columbia's legislature is more important than the question of money in the B.C. Electric case and must be taken to the Supreme Court of Canada, a former Liberal attorney-general indicated today.

Gordon Wismer, who was this province's chief law officer, said it was Attorney-General Robert Bonner's duty to appeal the Lett judgment.

(Mr. Bonner previously announced the government would fight the decision of Chief Justice Sherwood Lett—that B.C. had no legal power to expropriate the shares of a federally chartered company—all the way to the nation's highest tribunal.)

"GREATEST IMPORTANCE"
"Entirely apart from the merits of the B.C. Electric take over, there has arisen in this case a constitutional question of the greatest importance," Mr. Wismer commented.

"Provincial rights under the constitution as interpreted by the legislature have been challenged and I think that, as has been done many times in the past in similar circumstances, it is the duty of the attorney-general to secure the opinion of a court of last resort, namely the Supreme Court of Canada."

"It is necessary for the benefit of both business and government that the powers of the provincial government in this field should be precisely decided by our highest tribunal."

Teen-Agers Aid Elderly In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—A teen-age club in suburban Quebec West is devoted to brightening the lives of elderly persons.

Two years ago Abbe Edouard Rancourt brought 15 teen-age girls together to form a branch of the Louise de Marillac club, an organization based in France.

Each of the girls adopts an elderly person, making regular visits to their proteges, engaging in conversation or going for walks with them.

Occasionally the whole club will get together with their proteges for a party or an excursion, and stores and businesses in the district contribute.

Once a month members get together to discuss ways to improve their work. And a junior branch of the Louise de Marillac has been set up to groom girls under 14 for membership.

Wheat Pact Finalized Before Trip

OTTAWA (CP)—The expiring long-term wheat agreement with Red China apparently was signed before former agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton departed for Hong Kong discussions in 1961, it was indicated Wednesday in a written Commons reply.

The information said former prime minister Diefenbaker in the Commons described the trip as designed to "secure sales for Canadian grain."

It said Mr. Hamilton accompanied his special assistant who left Canada April 26, 1961, and returned May 1—although departmental records did not show Mr. Hamilton's departure and return dates.

Earlier the Commons was told that the 2½-year agreement, whose successor may be announced Thursday at Winnipeg and Ottawa, had been signed April 22, 1961, in Peking by Chief Commissioner W. C. McNamara of the Canadian Wheat Board.

Mr. McNamara has been negotiating the new agreement in Hong Kong.

The information was supplied by Agriculture Minister Hays for Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre).

The Liberals, when in opposition to the Conservatives, contended that Mr. Hamilton made the trip to Hong Kong for political propaganda purposes, seeking to take credit for salesmanship by the Canadian Wheat Board.

Buyer Wanted Dief Picture Off Display

CALGARY (CP)—The Calgary businessman who bought Stephen Ward's portrait of John Diefenbaker said he did it to get the picture off display.

J. Ross Henderson, a former president of the Alberta Progressive Conservative Association, bought the painting while visiting London two weeks ago.

It was part of a gallery of Ward's work being sold to finance his defence in the vice trial which led to his conviction Wednesday.

Mr. Henderson returned to Calgary Wednesday night. He said that according to the gallery catalogue, pictures bought during the sale had to remain on display until the sale concluded.

"But I bought the picture of Mr. Diefenbaker the night before the sale opened on the condition it be taken down immediately," Mr. Henderson said. "They removed the picture as soon as my cheque had cleared the bank."

"I bought it to get it out of public view. I didn't think a picture of the Canadian Conservative leader should be in that gallery."

Mr. Henderson paid 250 guineas—approximately $800—for the picture.

'Perfect' Bowlers To Be Featured At Mayfair

The clock will turn back to night for two Victoria bowlers at the official opening of Mayfair Lanes.

Veteran Cliff Hilton, who rolled a perfect game away back in 1934, and Marge Beane, who got her "300" in league play in 1947, will be among those taking part in the opening ceremonies.

Official opening will be made by Reeve Stan Murphy of the Municipality of Saanich but in the main, the opening will feature city bowlers and bowling officials.

They will include Eric Harbison and Ron Wilson, president and secretary, respectively, of the Victoria branch of the American Bowling Congress, and Lorna Pollock and Peggy Trickett, who hold the same positions with Victoria branch of the Women's International Bowling Congress.

Electronic Tally Units Tell All

Certain to prove fascinating to bowlers, and spectators, too, until such time as they accept it as an integral part of a modern bowling establishment, is the Tele-score scoring system, which will be used at Mayfair Lanes.

Each of the 40 lanes is equipped with one of these electronic units, which projects the complete end-by-end scores in enlarged form on the Tele-score screen which runs the full width of the lanes just over the approaches.

Scoring is done on a transparent plastic scoring sheet and immediately projected to the screen. It not only enables bowlers to see the scoring as it is done, without having to bend over the scorekeeper, but spectators in the concourse can follow the progress of each game as each ball is played.

TWO-WAY SYSTEM

And Tele-score does even more than that. Each unit is also equipped with a two-way communications system which is connected to the restaurant and the central control desk.

Messages to bowlers, or from bowlers, can be transmitted from or to the central control desk and bowlers who feel the need of refreshments may order them from the restaurant and be served in short order on the tables in the concourse right behind the bowling area.

24 HOURS DAILY

Another electronic unit of inestimable value to lanes which will be open 24 hours daily, is the automatic lane conditioner.

A machine which automatically puts the right amount of dressing on each lane and buffs it perfectly, the conditioner is started at the foul line, goes down the lane unattended, stops automatically at the head pin and reverses itself to return to the starting point. It is then moved to the next lane to do the same thing again.

UNDER TWO HOURS

The conditioner takes 90 seconds to do each lane and can do the 40 lanes in something under two hours quite handily, as compared with the approximate six hours it would take if done manually. It enables the conditioning to be done without interrupting any league or casual play during the busy season.

Farms Flooded

PEACE RIVER, Alta. (UPI)—Floods caused by heavy rains ended one of the longest droughts in the history of Alberta's Peace River district Tuesday. But at least 10 farms in the White Mud River area 38 miles northwest of Peace River were left facing almost total crop loss as waters from the river inundated the fields.

Mayfair Ultimate in Recreation Centres

Victoria's newest, most modern and handsomest recreation centre is the proud boast of Mayfair Lanes, which has its official opening today although it was opened for business on June 22.

A tour of the premises which house British Columbia's second-largest tenpin establishment leaves little room for argument.

A striking building of concrete block construction, Mayfair Lanes contains all the modern appurtenances demanded today in the highly-competitive business of wooing bowling customers.

Full-course meals and light snacks will be available to customers between 9 a.m. and mid-night in a smart, modern dining-room which seats 86 and in the coffee shop. In addition, bowlers and spectators can be served at 20 tables, seating 80, stretched the full-length of the carpeted concourse in front of the 40 tenpin lanes.

There is also a bright, supervised playroom, for pre-school youngsters, to enable mothers to get in their league or practice play without worry or family bother.

For the bowlers, everything is as up-to-date as it can be made. Each of the 40 lanes is equipped with Brunswick automatic pinsetters, underground ball returns, cluster ball racks and Tel-e-score scoring system and the masking units are complete with automatic pin-finders.

At the equipment shop, balls, bags, shoes, shirts, slacks and all other equipment or gear necessary for the bowler is on sale. There is, of course, shoe rental for those who prefer not to own their own bowling footwear and a selection of more than 250 new balls, from 10 to 16 pounds, for the free use of customers.

And, as is the case so often these days, tenpin and pool facilities have been combined in the same building. In a bow to the returning popularity of cue and ball play, there are 30 new Brunswick tables in a section behind the concourse.

To accommodate customers there is a hard-topped parking area which will park 350 cars, and to keep customers comfortable, the building is completely air-conditioned.

Erection of these luxury recreational facilities is a vote of confidence in the Victoria area by Consolidated Bowling Corporation, which operates a growing chain of bowling establishments, of which Mayfair Lanes is the 45th unit.

The 240 by 120-foot building, the three-acre site and equipment and furnishings add up to an investment of more than $1,250,000. Each of the 40 alleys, fully equipped, is a $15,000 item in itself. Success of the 48-lane Brentwood Lanes in Burnaby, largest tenpin establishment in the province, was what prompted Consolidated Bowling to move into the Victoria area.

Consolidated Bowling operates 33 lanes in the United States, spread from New York to California and Madison, Wis., to Florida but mainly concentrated in the eastern states. It also operates lanes in Rome and Milan and four in West Germany.

Its Canadian branch, Consolidated Bowling Ltd., headquartered in Montreal, started operations in Quebec with 40 lanes in Drummondville, and 48 in Montreal and Quebec City.

Casting about for a likely area to expand, it picked on Vancouver because, Victoria manager Iver Hansen says, of a lack of a modern tenpin establishment on the lower mainland. The result was Brentwood Lanes, then Mayfair Lanes, and now under construction in West Vancouver is the Park Royal, which will house 36 tenpin lanes.

Construction on the Victoria site, adjacent to the new Woodward shopping centre with Tolmie Avenue and Roderick Street the entrances off Douglas Street, and Oak Street the approach off Cloverdale Avenue, started only last January. There were a few minor delays but the late-June opening was not many days off the hoped-for start.

Gives Exhibition

Joe D'Orazio, a member of Brunswick's advisory staff, will take part in exhibition bowling to be feature of official opening this evening. He will be paired with Marg Cooper against Jim Mills and Flora Kirker in doubles competition. Latter three are well-known Victoria bowlers.

Lanes Manager Adopts Victoria as Own

A Victorian by choice, liking it and hoping to make it permanent is the best way to describe Iver Hansen, manager of the Mayfair Lanes.

Hansen, who had been in the hotel business in his home town of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Buffalo, Hansen joined the Consolidated Bowling Corporation and became the first unit manager in a chain which currently has its 46th unit under construction in West Vancouver.

Hansen took over the 64-lane Beverly Lanes in Niagara Falls in 1957 and remained as manager until last year, when he decided he would like to have a change.

He looked over Philadelphia, Phoenix, Ontario, California and Victoria before making up his mind. And he says that once he arrived here there was no doubt about which city he would select.

He moved here last January, when construction of Mayfair Lanes began, with his wife, Anne, and family—Holly, 9, Jerry, 7, and Heather, 3.

His liking for Victoria is echoed by Mrs. Hansen. The family is settled down at 4171 Oakridge Crescent, Iver, who played to a seven-handicap before he came here, is already a member of the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club and the North Kiwanis Club.

But while bowling and golf have long been his favorite recreations, a new one is crowding the top two. Hansen has already experienced the unmatched melody of a singing reel and the area has a new salmon-hunter.

"This," he says of Victoria, "is it."

Hansen heads a staff of 21, which will grow by about a dozen in the busy season. His assistant-manager and chief clerk are two well-known city bowlers, Cliff Weatherhead and Harold Thickett. A new, and potent addition to city ten-pin is chief-mechanic Keith Snelling, a former Vancouverite who averages 190 or better.

Even in an operation as fully automated as it can be, all will be kept busy. Mayfair Lanes will be open 24 hours daily. Action in evening leagues will start at 8:45 and 9:15 and daytime league play at times preferred by various leagues. Casual and practice play is a big item, particularly because many customers at new, modern lanes are newcomers to bowling.

Many will come from distaff ranks. The supervised playroom for pre-school children will result in the formation of ladies' daytime leagues.

"Today," Hansen says, "the housewife with small children can take time off for league or casual bowling and get her daily shopping done without much disruption of home chores."

New bowlers from younger ranks is also a big item. Mayfair has a junior bowling program each Saturday, for boys at 8:30 a.m. and girls at 10 a.m., in the 9-16 age group.

Youngsters will be organized into leagues for regular play and the leagues will be affillated with the American Junior Bowling Congress. Leading city bowlers will provide instruction and youngsters will get a special rate of 35 cents a line which includes having shoes provided at no cost.

There will also be free instruction, in both tenpins and billiards, for customers of any age.

"A new, modern bowling establishment will always give bowling a big boost in any area," Hansen says. "We realize that a large part of our custom will come from new bowlers and we hope to interest many hundreds of beginners with the facilities and services we offer."

In New Post

Well-known bowler Cliff Weatherhead is assistant manager of the new Mayfair Lanes. Formerly in the ladies' wear business, Mr. Weatherhead was appointed to the assistant-managership at the lanes earlier this year.

Elroy's Crazy Over Eidophor After TV Show

By DOUG PEDEN

Crazy Legs and Eidophor had their first date with Victoria fans Thursday night and don't be surprised if the first two are eventually going steady in sunny California.

Eidophor is the Swiss-developed television projector that some people say is the greatest thing to ever hit the cathode tubes. It has been a whopping success in closed-circuit hockey telecasts in Toronto and Wednesday night at the Royal Theatre Eidophor had its coming-out party for football fans.

Intrigued by the idea of being able to relax in the coziness and comfort of a theatre while watching B.C. Lions try to live up to campaign promises in sunshine, rain or sleet, Victoria grid addicts turned out in droves for the Eidophor debut.

They almost packed the picture palace while on the screen—in excellent clarity and including considerable close-up action—the Lions battled Ottawa Rough Riders in an exhibition Canadian Football League tussle, eventually coming out on the right end of an 18-8 score.

Making up the remainder of the TV series at the Royal will be eight Lions' home games, starting Aug. 8.

Stretching his long and talented legs in one of the better seats Wednesday was Elroy "Crazy Legs" Hirsch, for many years one of the greatest halfbacks in pro football and now general manager of Los Angeles Rams.

For Elroy and Eidophor, it appeared to be love at first sight.

NFL Won't Risk TV Package Deal

Rams, like a couple of dozen other grid clubs across the continent, are intensely interested in pulling more dollars into their coffers via closed-circuit gridiron presentations.

Hirsch, now in his fourth year as head man of the Rams, will soon make a report to the Los Angeles club and the National Football League.

Before the game, Elroy, whose broken-field running became almost a legend while he was attending University of Wisconsin and (as a war-time Marine) U. of Michigan, commented on what theatre TV might mean to the Rams. "Everybody has been kicking around the idea of pay TV, but this may have fewer problems and the possibilities are tremendous," said Crazy Legs, who launched his pro career by playing three years with Chicago Rockets of the former All-America Conference and ended it after nine years with the Rams. Later, he starred in a movie version of his great career.

Hirsch, 40, congenial, tanned and still at his old playing weight, explained that the NFL constitution does not have any rules covering theatre TV and any innovations would have to gain approval of club owners.

League rules do prohibit television within 75 miles of games, but the Rams are thinking of closed-circuit shows in several cities, including San Diego (140 miles from LA), Bakersfield (120) and Las Vegas (290).

One thing is certain. NFL owners won't do anything that might jeopardize the present revenue from a national TV package deal, shared equally by all clubs. Last season, each club got $335,000, about one-third of the Rams' budget.

In Color on 50-Foot Screen...Wow!

After watching the Canadian brand of pigskin mayhem, Elroy was still enthused.

"It's much clearer than I expected," he said. "I think it has been remarkable camera work. With all those counters and reverses, they hardly missed a play. I'm just amazed."

"Will you make a favorable report?" he was asked. "I certainly will," he replied. "I'm tremendously impressed and I'd like to see it in California."

"It has great potential. You see things you couldn't see from the stands. They tell me this projector can be used for color and a 50-foot screen. Wouldn't that be something?"

Local viewers, paying $2 to $3 for seats, and greeted outside the theatre by a drill team and football music, generally acted like they were at the game. There were the usual acid comments; tossed at referee Paul Dojack, cheers for good plays, groans for Lion boo-boos and, of course, plenty of theatre-chair quarterbacking.

A few fans had expected something better, most were pleasantly surprised and there were few who didn't have good words for the presentation.

Here are some of the comments by viewers: "Very good. We're getting excellent coverage," said Cec Ferguson. "It's better than home television. We'll definitely be back again."

"They don't cover the passes very well," commented Dr. Roger Ross. "Other than that it's fine."

Hirsch Finds Hockey Most Exciting

"I think it's alright," said Ivan Shillington. "I really enjoyed it."

"This is tremendous. You see things you never saw before. Some of the blocking is terrific," were remarks of Tony and Nat Staples, who came from Duncan for the game.

"The picture is very good, but I don't think the announcing is up with the play," remarked Roy Okell. "The camera work is excellent."

"Excellent," said Bill Andrews. "Sportswise, this is the greatest thing that has happened to Victoria in a long time." "It's perfect as far as I'm concerned," said Dick Chungranes. "I'll be back."

"I think the coverage is very good and the players look bigger," commented Bert Nelson. "I think minor football on the Island should get a real boost."

Neither the Lions nor the sponsors are due to make a nickel out of the showing at the Royal. All profits, if any, go to assist minor football on the Island.

As expected, one of the calmest people in the seats was Hirsch, who gave a boost to Canada's favorite sports pastime when he said: "Hockey is the only sport at which I stand up and yell."

TALENTED SEATTLE PAIR IN B.C. SKATING MEET

Lorna Dyer and John Carrell of Seattle, top U.S. dance skating team, will be competing in the third annual B.C. Invitational Figure Skating and Dance championships on Esquimalt Sports Centre ice Sunday.

A record number of entries have been received from top skaters in B.C. and north-western U.S.A. for the meet. Diane Murdoch of Victoria Figure Skating Club will be one of the top entrants in ladies' gold singles. She passed her seventh figure test last weekend at the summer figure skating school of the Victoria club.

Skating begins at 11 a.m. and continues all day.

VANCOUVER (CP) —

British Columbia Lions appear to have developed a potent one-two rookie punch from which much could be heard during the coming Canadian Football League season.

Some 20,000 fans got a second look at the hometown combination of quarterback Pete Ohler and fullback Peter Kempf as Lions defeated Ottawa Rough Riders 18-8 in an exhibition game Thursday night.

Kempf, who played last year with Western Washington University, kicked three field goals and two singles, caught an Ohler pass for a touchdown and converted that touchdown as Lions ended their three-game exhibition season undefeated for the first time in 10 years.

It was rookie night at Empire Stadium as Hawaiian Tommy Lee took over from veteran Ottawa quarterback Ron Jackson after a dull first half and sparked the Rough Riders to their only points.

REPLACES MELIN

Ohler took over from Mel Melin in the fourth quarter when the latter was unable to move the team within the Ottawa 35-yard line.

Ottawa got on the scoreboard when Lee hit halfback Whit Tucker with a 46-yard pass. Dave Thelen plunged three yards for the touchdown and Moe Racine converted.

Rick Black punted 67 yards to give Ottawa a single earlier in the quarter.

Lions led 1-0 after the first quarter, 4-0 at the half and the game was tied 8-8 after the third.

B.C. had 19 first downs, 246 yards along the ground and 110 in the air. Ottawa made eight first downs, 61 yards rushing and 81 passing.

Lions played without first-string quarterback Joe Kapp who was out with a muscle spasm.

PASS TO BEAMER

Ohler, formerly with Washington University, came in at the beginning of the third quarter. On his third series, with Lions on the 50-yard line, he dodged two tacklers—dropping back 20 yards in the process—and uncorked a pass to Nub Beamer on the 28-yard line. On the next series he passed to Kempf in the end zone.

Kempf scored two field goals, four converts and caught a pass for a touchdown last week when B.C. licked Saskatchewan Roughriders 40-0.

Alouettes Trip Ticats

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Alouettes, climaxing an uphill struggle with a 10-point fourth quarter, defeated the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, 23-16, last night before 19,789 fans.

The Als, trailing 16-12 entering the final period, went ahead for good at the 2:00 mark on Sandy Stephens' second scoring pass of the game, a six-yarder to Don Clark. Earlier he hit Luster with a 15-yarder on the final play of the first quarter.

Bobby Jack Oliver added his second field goal of the night and Ferdie Burkett boomed a tremendous 87-yard punt on which Rene Riopelle was roused to complete the Alouettes' 10-point fourth quarter surge.

Well, Elroy, It's Just Like Rugby

Heading into Royal Theatre Thursday night to watch closed circuit television of B.C. Lions football game, former National Football League great Elroy "Crazy Legs" Hirsch chatted with several city fans. Among them were a pair of former city

City Colts Take Lead Over Good Tacoma Club

By BOB BELL

Victoria All-Stars and Tacoma Lakewoods know they're in for a rough, cliff-hanging type of series for the Colt Baseball League—baseball sectional championship.

The evenly-matched teams move tonight into the second battle of the best-of-three series for the B.C.-Western Washington crown at Royal Athletic Park, and if Thursday's game is any indication, it will be a dilly.

Victoria squeezed out a 4-3 win over Tacoma in a game that featured hard-hitting, hard-pitching efforts. It was anybody's game down to the last out.

Victoria pitcher Gordie Strongman retired the side in the top half of the first inning, and in the bottom half, John Clemens picked up Victoria's first run, scoring from second base on a double by clean-up batter Lloyd Murphy.

EVENED SCORE

Tacoma evened it up in the third when Don Kempf scored from third base on a squeeze play.

Tacoma pressed hard for the rest of the game, aided by Victoria errors. Pete Jolly relieved Strongman in the fourth for Victoria, and while he held Tacoma at bay for two innings, he was in trouble more than once.

Victoria made it 2-1 in the fifth frame, on the strength of two Tacoma errors, a walk, a hit batter, and singles by Jim Leard and Clemens.

The city Colts looked sharp in the sixth when they added two more tallies as Tacoma pitcher Rick Austin appeared to tire.

But then came a scare in the seventh.

TWO BIG RUNS

A double by Ken Ragland and singles by Bob Saxton and Steve Walker added up to two big Tacoma runs.

With only one out, the tying run on second and the winning run on first, the third Victoria pitcher, Bruce MacKenzie, was in trouble right up until Tacoma's Don McPherson was picked off at first base for the final out.

Game time tonight is 6:15, and a third game, if necessary, will be played Saturday at 10 a.m.

Frank Alexander fired eight goals to help Butler Bros. of Victoria to a 14-9 win over Nanaimo Thursday at Nanaimo in the first game of the best-of-three Vancouver Island bantam lacrosse finals.

Dan Sprinkling picked up three goals; Bill Cool, two; and Rod Hamilton, one, to round out Victoria's effort.

Next game is set for Monday at 7 p.m. at Memorial Arena.

BEAT 'BELLIES

Rocks Erase Threat

Victoria Junior Shamrocks eliminated a big threat to their chances of winning the Junior Inter-City Lacrosse League championship Thursday, dumping New Westminster Salmonbellies, 11-6.

The game was New Westminster's last league tussle, and the loss left them one point behind the Rocks and out of contention for first place.

Rocks have three games left to play.

The only other team with a chance for first place is Legion 16, four points off the pace and with a game in hand on Shamrocks.

Thursday's game was close until the third quarter. Then Rocks outscored Westminster six goals to one to take a 9-3 lead.

Bays Gain Semis

PRINCE GEORGE—Oak Bay All-Stars from Victoria are away to a flying start in the provincial Little League baseball playoffs.

The poised Oak Bay youngsters made their first start in the B.C. final Thursday and promptly clipped Collingwood 7-4 to advance into today's semi-final round.

Four-hit pitching by Terry Karpiuk sparked the Bays to the win, after catcher Don Burrows had trouble shaking off the jolting effects of a third-inning fast ball on the face guard.

Karpiuk struck-out 14 batters and walked six as he blanketed Collingwood in the last three innings, giving the Bays a chance to use their hitting power to pull off the win.

BASES-LOADED TRIPLE

Oak Bay started to move in the fourth when Chris Hall and Barry Giddard singled in runs.

Ricky Reynolds put the game on ice in the fifth frame when he belted a bases-loaded triple and scored on Hall's second single of the game.

The Bays play Coquitlam tonight and a win will send them into Saturday's final.

COACH COMMENTS

Schoolboy Tour Indicates Track Healthy in B.C.

Success of the British Columbia schoolboy team on a tour of Europe indicates that track and field in the province is healthy, says Derek Hyde-Lay, coach of the 20-member squad from four private schools.

Writing to the Daily Times from Heidelberg, Germany, last weekend, Hyde-Lay said that the tour had been enjoyed by all—despite poor weather for every meet and a passport mixup at the East German border—and the young athletes had benefitted considerably from the competitions.

Making up the squad, captained by Rusty Walters of Texada Island, are nine from Shawnigan Lake Boys' School, six from St. George's (Vancouver), three from Brentwood College, and "borrowed" for two meets, two from University School.

Here are some of Hyde-Lay's comments on the tour:

First of all, the tour has been successful. We have lost only one meet—to Marlborough College, who are probably as strong as any school team in the U.K. this year—and won the rest.

We won four in England, beating Stowe School, Woolverstone Hall, Wellington College and Royal Masonic School. We then went to Aalborg in north Denmark to participate in the Danish Youth Games on the Monday and Tuesday evenings and had another meet on the Wednesday.

We did well here, too, providing several "youth champions" of 1963.

For example: 100 metres and 300 metres, Mark Appleton (11.3 and 36.1 seconds); pole vault and discus, Tony Foster (11'7½" and 131'7"); shotput, Dal Grauer (45' 10"). These are all under-19 Danish champions for '63.

We were far too strong for them in the meet, winning almost every event. Oddly enough, Mark Gibson suffered his first defeat, losing to the Danish champion by five yards in the 1,000 metres. Personally I feel this odd dance "threw him" as he seemed to have miscounted the laps and didn't quite know when to start his finishing sprint.

Our sprint relay team continued its winning ways, although here we had to race a picked team from all the Aalborg clubs.

We headed for Berlin but never got there due to a mixup over passports. However, I managed to get another meet arranged to replace this one, against Wurzburg T.V. 73, a city about the size of Victoria in north Bavaria.

By this time five of my team had left for various reasons so I was well pleased with a 57-57 tie under the circumstances. Wurzburg TV 73 is recognized as one of the leading clubs in south Germany.

Here again the two highlights were Gibson's running in the 1,500 metres and the sprint relay's seventh win... Mark Appleton also won his fifth 100 out of seven...

This is our last meet... We do have one more in Switzerland, but it is not a very serious affair, rather a sort of friendly training session against my old "alma mater."

I think you could say that it is fair to judge by our results that the standard of track and field in B.C. is healthy. Nothing like the States, of course, but healthy all the same.

We saw no one as good as Bob McLaren, for instance, and I have no illusions about my team. We were nothing special. Just a good, well-balanced group, with two exceptions—Mark Gibson in the distances (he's improved tremendously since he's been over here) and Tony Foster, who is very versatile... a great decathlon prospect...

FISHING REPORT

Qualicum Coho Hit Bucktails

Salmon fishing may have tapered off a bit in some areas, but anglers are still hauling in good catches in many places along the Vancouver Island coast.

As usual when August starts, much of the fishing talk centres on the big ones—the tyees—and the over-30-pound spring salmon are now battering tackle in some sections.

Campbell River reports tell of tyee showing in the famed Tyee Pool and mention a 47-pounder caught last Sunday by Ed McQuillan of Courtenay.

Ferree Leads With Hot 64

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Jim Ferree, who hasn't won a tournament since 1958, shot a sizzling eight-under-par 64 to take the first-day lead Thursday in the $35,000 St. Paul Open golf tournament.

Ferree held a one-shot lead over Don Fairfield, winner here in 1960, and a two-stroke edge over Jerry Barber.

Tied at 67 were Jack Rule Jr. and Jerry Pittman.

Ferree's 64—two strokes over the tournament record at Keller course—came on 10 pars and eight birdies.

Of the 137 who started, 57 broke par in the assault on Keller's 6,567 yards, fourteen more equalled it.

Tense Battle Stopped By Tragedy in Mexico

VANCOUVER (CP) — A personal tragedy Thursday cut short the stay in Canada of Mexico's Antonio Palafox.

The stylish 26-year-old Davis Cup team member was informed of his father's death from a heart attack as play was in the third set of a breath-taking singles match at the Canadian lawn tennis championships. Palafox defaulted the match to Keith Carpenter of Montreal and left the court to receive a telephone call from his home in Guadalajara, Mexico.

He left soon after to fly home, his plans apparently indefinite regarding play in the next Davis Cup round against the United States in Los Angeles Aug. 16-18.

Palafox had figured in three victories last weekend as Mexico took the best-of-five Davis Cup series 4-1 over Canada.

WAS SEEDED FIRST

At the championships this week, he had been seeded first in singles and with Rafael Osuna, the other half of the Wimbledon doubles champions, had been expected to sweep that event as well.

He was undefeated as he met Carpenter, one of Canada's Davis Cuppers, in a quarter-final match.

Both were brilliant. Palafox finally broke Carpenter's serve in the 21st game and won the opening set 12-10. Carpenter came back, breaking the Mexican's serve twice in a row, and took the second set 6-1.

It was 4-1 for Palafox in the final set when Pancho Contreras, playing captain of the Mexican Davis Cup team, walked onto the court, put his arm around his player's shoulders, and told him that Ramon Palafox had died.

Carpenter advanced to the semi-finals, where he meets Francois Godbout of Waterloo, Que., today. Godbout defeated third foreign seed Tom Brown of San Francisco 6-1, 6-2.

Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., three-time singles champion, defeated Horst Ritter of Los Altos, Calif., 7-5, 6-2.

His semi-final match today is against second foreign seed Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., who defeated Reed Witt of Larkspur, Calif., 6-4, 6-3.

SUSAN ADVANCES

Vancouver's Vicki Berner, unranked 18-year-old defeated fourth seed Margo Hedges of Ogden, Utah, 7-5, 6-3 and today meets defending champion and top seed Ann Barclay of Toronto. Miss Barclay won 6-0, 6-3 over Hedy Rutzebeck of Vancouver.

Second-seeded Louise Brown of Toronto easily defeated Ann Heck of Ventura, Calif., 6-1, 6-1 while Susan Butt of Victoria, third seed, edged Diana Gal of Oakland, Calif., 7-5, 5-7, 7-5.

The doubles default by Osuna and Palafox gave a semi-final berth to Art Jeffery of Vancouver and Doyle Perkins of Tacoma, Wash.

ANGRY ANGLER 'HAMMERS' HIS PROTEST

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — An irate fisherman who heaved a hammer at a power boat which roared past his craft is being sought by police on both sides of the border.

Miss Jo Ann Cummings of Detroit's suburban Harper Woods was struck on the left knee Tuesday by a hammer thrown by an irate fisherman whose trolling was disturbed by the pleasure craft.

Miss Cummings was a passenger on a boat being driven by Max Moore of Detroit. The incident occurred off Peche Island in the mouth of Lake St. Clair.

PHIL QUITTING?

Canucks Seek Player Help

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Canucks are dicker with other Western Hockey League clubs in hope of landing a winger and a defenceman, says general manager-coach Max McNab.

He also said the parent New York Rangers are trying to get an experienced centre for Canucks.

McNab says the team will have to be strengthened by 30 per cent if it is to be a contender this season. He based his estimate on the bolstering done by five other WHL clubs.

The Canucks lost two defencemen, Adam Keller and Marty Howe, in the annual draft. The possible retirement of Phil Maloney also threatens to weaken the team.

Canucks finished first in the northern division of the eight-team, two-division league last season.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Movie and TV star James Garner has spoken out in anger against Press Agents Jack Brodsky and Nat Weiss for telling everything intimate they can remember about Liz Taylor and Richard Burton in a new book, "The Cleopatra Papers."

"They had positions of responsibility with 20th Century-Fox when they were assigned to 'Cleopatra,'" Garner said fiercely while having dinner at the NY Hilton 7 Hills. "They had no right to write this book. And it's not that I'm defending the actors. I'm in fact, very, very sick of Liz and Burton and Sybil and Whoever Else it is. But Brodsky and Weiss have made me realize that if a press agent leaves me, he may write anything he wants to about me. I don't mind because I've got nothing to hide."

I mentioned that Emmett Hughes had written a book about Dwight Eisenhower after giving up a job as his speech writer.

"I think he was wrong to do it and I don't even know him," snapped Garner.

WNEW's 30th anniversary. Buddy seems to have objected to Fred referring to his new weight (177) in introducing him. "First time I've been slapped since I was out on a date in high school," said Robbins. "An admirer of Buddy's, I kept control and turned the other cheek." Buddy, who's been on an extreme diet, considered the slap-slap-slap thing humorous, even if Robbins' cheeks didn't.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Bobby Darin, ill again, threw in the sponge at Freedland, canceled his last night's show, also an Atlantic City engagement—and decided to "go away for a while" with Sandra Dee, with whom he's reconciling. . . Arthur Hill, prize-copping actor in "Virginia Wolf," is starring in a TV show Fred Coe'll direct, "The Reporter." It's about a newspaper man who battles every day to get and print the truth. (Good luck, gentlemen!)

... Shelley Winters and new boy friend, actor Henry Madden, drank to the nuclear test agreement at Allen's and Dorrian's "Red Hand" the other a.m. Shelley will take a leave from "Cages" to make a film in Italy. Mercedes McCambridge will sub. . . Lovely Sandy Deetz of Dover, O., is helping the Copa Girls revive their reputation for beauty and sex appeal.

... A Lexington Ave. newsie shouted, "Here y're, read all about merry old England in dull old New York!" . . . Spyros Skouras, who lost his 20th Century-Fox job over "Cleopatra," told a group, "Three men have been involved with Cleopatra—Julius Caesar, who was assassinated; Marc Anthony, who committed suicide; and me—I was beheaded." . . . Veteran bandleader Glen Gray is critically ill at his Plymouth, Mass., home. . . Tony Martin gave his Cyd a chinchilla coat on their 15th ann'y.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH:

Comic Bernie Allen, short and chunky, told his wife, "Well, just remember this—Gregory Peck and I weigh exactly the same!"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Most of us read just enough to keep ourselves misinformed.—Arnold Glasgow.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The Lord had a good reason for creating man before He created woman—he didn't want any advice."—Aton.

EARL'S PEARLS: Vi Velasco suggests, as a good example of overconfidence, Gen. Custer's order to his men: "Remember—don't take any prisoners." Diana Dors mentioned to Jack Durant at the Latin Quarter that many of his gags—which audiences love—are of World War II vintage. "Yes," Jack agreed happily, "that was a great year for jokes." . . . That's earl, brother.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia to Audrey Faix, 11, Fullerton, Pa., for her question: Can you tell the age of a rattlesnake?

Andy says that it is fine to be curious about everything, even about the rattlesnake. But always, always keep in mind that this fellow has a deadly bite. It is true that you can get a rough idea of his age from the rattle at the tail end of his snakey body. But never, never examine this noisy tail unless you are quite sure the owner is no longer living.

The examination of a rattler's rattle must be an autopsy—which is to say that the patient must be dead. The rattlesnake is often lazy and logy, especially after eating, and you just might mistake a dozing rattler for a dead rattler. So, before we examine his tail, let's ask a herpetologist to give him a death certificate. A herpetologist is a reptile expert who knows more snakey secrets than we do.

The rattler's rattle is a row of bony buttons on the end of his tapering tail. The buttons are like graceful little turrets fitted neatly one on top of another. The rattling noise is made when the snake shakes or vibrates his tail so that the bony little buttons bang against each other. The rattle is never more than a few inches long, but it can be heard for a hundred yards.

A rattlesnake hatches from an egg, and the youngster has the beginnings of his rattle before he crawls forth to face the world. There is one putty-colored button at the tail end of his body. More buttons will be added as he grows older, and the string of buttons will gradually darken to a muddy-greenish-brown or grey.

A snake with eight darkish rattle buttons is older than a snake with three pale buttons. But the number of buttons cannot tell us exactly how many birthdays the snake has had. Non-experts often think that the rattler adds one button to his tail every year, but this is not so. Those who know a little more about snakes may say that the rattler adds a button every time he sheds his skin, which may be two or three times a year. But experts say that the rattler may shed without adding to his rattle.

Snake Loses Tip of Rattle

On a young snake, the buttons taper to a point. An older snake often loses the tip of his rattle—with no one knows how many buttons. A rattler with six dark buttons and no tapering tip may belong to a 12-year-old snake who has shed his skin perhaps 30 times.

The bony buttons of the rattler's rattle can be shaken loose when the vibrating tail strikes a stone. Most if not all grown rattlers lose some of their bony tail sections as they go through life, and a successful rattlesnake may live to enjoy 15 to 20 birthdays. Each species reaches a certain length, and this can tell us that he is old enough to have stopped growing. The rattle can tell us that the snake is young, middle-aged or an old grandpa of a snake.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Doreen Nelson, age 13, of Stratford, Conn., for her question:

Is Singapore an Island?

The city of Singapore is on the island of Singapore, and both of them sit almost on the equator. One side of the island faces the Malay Peninsula, and its other shores are washed by the Indian Ocean. The length of the steamy, tropical island is 26 miles, and its greatest width is 46 miles.

Singapore is one of the most crowded areas in the world. Here east meets west, for it lies on the trade routes between Europe and the Orient. Its harbor teems with world-wide shipping, and people of many nations live in its city streets and in floating houses on its waterways.

George, complained a firm of butchers, had been manager of their store. Then he moved to a rival store 45 yards away—and all the firm's women customers went with him. Income dropped by $50 ($150) a week.

The firm claimed George had broken an agreement not to work for any other butcher within a mile of their store or solicit trade from their customers.

Judge Lawson Campbell threw out the firm's claim.

HIS LOOKS ATTRACTED CUSTOMERS

CLACTON, England (AP)—George Martin, 35, was taken to court Tuesday for being too good looking.

George, complained a firm of butchers, had been manager of their store. Then he moved to a rival store 45 yards away—and all the firm's women customers went with him. Income dropped by $50 ($150) a week.

The firm claimed George had broken an agreement not to work for any other butcher within a mile of their store or solicit trade from their customers.

Judge Lawson Campbell threw out the firm's claim.

Airborne Cops Spot S. Dakota Speeders

PIERRE, S.D. (CP)—You've got to keep your head up if you want to avoid a speeding ticket in South Dakota.

Experimenting with airborne traffic cops, the state highway patrol is using a light plane to spot speeders.

The plane watches for swift-moving cars, clocks their speed over a measured stretch and then radios a motor patrolman if it finds a suspected speeder.

In one such case this message was relayed to the motorist: "Your speed has been checked by use of aircraft. Your vehicle was travelling at 64 miles an hour. The speed limit for this zone is 60 miles an hour. Speed is a contributing factor in 16 per cent of all accidents reported to us. Adjust your driving to posted limits and changing conditions. The life you save may be your own."

Highway patrol chief Cullen P. With, who was long pressed for South Dakota to follow Minnesota, Nebraska and Iowa in using planes, says "we hope to get the speeders missed by the ground force, the drunk drivers and the people who fail to stop at stop signs."

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Prof. Theodore Roethke, 55, a Pulitzer Prize winning poet, died of a heart attack Tuesday night after collapsing in a neighbor's private swimming pool on Bainbridge Island.

Roethke, an English professor at the University of Washington, won the Pulitzer Prize for a book of poetry called "The Waking" which was published in 1953.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Too little and too late, University of B.C. president John MacDonald said Thursday when he returned here and was told of a supplementary operating grant of $370,074 from the provincial government.

Dr. MacDonald was attending a universities conference in England when UBC received the grant to help tide it through to the end of its fiscal year.

"This just means a delay and postponement in strengthening the graduate program which is a vital part of our continued existence," he said in an interview.

The supplementary grant was nearly $1,200,000 short of what the university considered essential for the year's operation.

Dr. MacDonald said that with more money UBC would be able to establish a good graduate school to train future professors. He envisions a graduate school with 3,000 students compared to the 1,000 now at the university.

Yachtsmen Rescued
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The U.S. Coast Guard said Thursday a submarine rescue picked up seven persons from the distressed, converted yacht, Freedom II. The coast guard said all persons, including the yacht's skipper, Vice-Admiral Gerald Bogan, U.S. Navy, retired, were in good condition.

Fort Dix, N.J. (AP)—Twenty-one soldiers were mowed down by an automobile as they marched along a road on this military post Thursday night.

Fifteen of the injured were admitted to army hospital, most of them with fractures. Six others were treated and released.

An army spokesman said the driver of the car, Pte. Robert C. Keyser, 23, of Toms River, N.J., was being questioned by military police. He added that Keyser apparently failed to yield the right of way.

Company D, 144 men, was returning to barracks after a night training problem when the accident occurred. Flashlights with red reflectors were carried by the marchers, the army said.

Stork Lost Out

VANCOUVER (CP)—An RCAF Albatross on a mercy flight got Mrs. Elizabeth Mossip, 31, from a radar station on Vancouver Island to Vancouver General Hospital 15 minutes ahead of the stork.

Mrs. Mossip gave birth to a girl after making the 225-mile trip from Holberg, near Port Hardy. The trip was made necessary by pregnancy complications.

Defendant Freed
In Fares Theft

NANAIMO—Malcolm John McGregor, 26, Thursday was given a three-year suspended sentence for theft of more than $50 from the Nanaimo terminal of the B.C. government ferry system.

Magistrate Lionel Beaver Potts said that, since no official, police or the ferry authority knew how much money was taken he could not order restitution.

He ordered McGregor to post a $750 bond and recommended that he undergo psychiatric treatment.

McGregor pleaded guilty and admitted stealing money from the Authority ever since he was employed there 1½ years ago. He has repaid $205.

SIDNEY—Owner-electors of Sidney voted Tuesday in favor of extending the limits of the village municipality.

The referendum passed by a 68.7 per cent "yes" vote.

A. W. Sharp, returning officer, said out of 1,000 eligible voters, there were 314 ballots cast. The count showed 216 yes votes and 98 no votes.

The extension will add a half block to the southern boundary and will square the western boundary along East Saanich Road.

It will also take in Roberts Point, Armstrong Point and a portion of Mill Point to the north.

The extension of the boundary will permit nearby homes, including Rest Haven Hospital, to connect with the Sidney sewer system.

Arthur Mayse

It is high summer now, the time when the bracken turns dusty along the sideroads, and the mountain ash berries offer their orange sprays to tempt our well-plumped robins.

The leaves have made their full growth. Long gone are the pastels of the earlier year. Only the river-loving cottonwoods retain a hint of spring; elsewhere all is a full, strong green, from the tropical burnish of the arbutus to the dark of the helmeted broad-leaf maples.

But already, one can find hints of fall. Here and there in the burns, the vine maple is turning. You may come upon a willow flecked with yellow, a dogwood with a wine leaf. In the ground cover, the change is more pronounced. The ocean spray's lavish, blossom-froth will soon be withered brown enough to roll small-boy cigarettes, and it is easy to find a frond of prickly-edged Oregon grape lacquered Mandarin red.

In the tame gardens, the yellow transients thud to the cushioning grass even when no breeze stirs. The keeping apples are beginning to color up, and the corn stands tall.

But the great, jungly surge of west coast growth is over, the lawns less demanding; and all will dwindle and ripen until mellow September turns the wasps drunk with its fermented juices.

Inshore, the shoals acquire a satiny iridescence, changing with the light and the vagaries of tide. The kelp beds, whose cycle of growth and decay goes unnoted except by fishing birds and fishermen, have come to their brown-glistening maturity.

They shelter a small life which feeds a larger; this year the coho salmon have returned, to my great relief. I wasn't sure we'd ever have a proper run again. It lifts my heart to see the flip and skitter of herring minnows, and the shine of a green back through broken water.

It's a busy world, this of the inshore. The coho gulls, the trim little black-headed bonapartes, bob on the slicks between current-bands. The cormorant surfaces to toss a baitfish down the S-curve of his snaky neck, and the murrelets tip their little brown sterns in shallower dives.

Land scent and sea smell meet and blend here. You can spend a day prowling the help-line and wonder where the hours have gone.

Senate Search Shadowed At University

By IAIN HUNTER

Coming selection of the first president of the University of Victoria has overshadowed coming elections to the senate.

Yet it is the senate which ultimately determines the academic future of the university.

Sometime this month those members of the senate who have been elected by faculty or sit on that body under terms of the Universities Act, will hold their first meeting.

And about the middle of the month the Board of Governors are expected to announce the holding of elections by members of convocation for six members to sit on the Senate.

It is understood these elections will be held in December, just within the time-limit of Jan. 1, 1964, set by the act.

Besides the 17 members already selected, and the six to be elected by convocation, four members still have to be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

ELECTION READIED
The registrar's office at the university now is drawing up a "role of convocation" for the coming elections.

Elections will include university graduates who completed matriculation in B.C.; former students of Victoria College or Normal School, and ex-members of the college council.

It is expected that the election of the chancellor of the university will be held at the same time as the senate elections. Former college council chairman Judge J. B. Clearhue was appointed chancellor from July 1 until the elections could take place.

LIST RELEASED
List of elected members to the senate was released today. Besides Chancellor Clearhue, a member under terms of the act, and acting president Harry Hickman, ex-officio chairman, they are:

Acting dean of Arts, Prof. R. T. D. Wallace; acting dean of education, Prof. H. C. Gilliland; university librarian Dean Halliwell; registrar R. R. Jeffels, as senate secretary; Arts faculty representative Roger Bishop, professor of English; education faculty representative Dr. David B. Chabasso; Dr. Peter L. Smith (classics); Dr. Richard H. J. Monk (education); Dr. Arthur Fontaine (biology); Mrs. Elizabeth Kennedy (mathematics); Dr. Roy Watson (anthropology); Dr. Izzy Din Pal (economics); Dr. Gordon Fields (biology); Dr. Geoffrey Mason (psychology); and Dr. G. Alexander Milton (psychology).

It is the senate's function to provide in general for the management and choice of curriculum and instruction at the university.

FIRST OF THE LAST 50-year debentures issued by the municipality of Esquimalt is held by municipal employee Mrs. F. L. Loughheed. Marked number one, this is the first of the $400,000 issue which is now being retired. Fifty-year issues are no longer permitted, with 20 years as the maximum now. Many of the bonds were bought back by the municipality in recent years. That's the Fisgard light pictured at the top of the bond.

Well-Named Ship Carries Missiles

By MONTE ROBERTS

In case you were wondering, yes, the USN frigate visiting here this weekend was named after the protagonist in the oft-quoted order: "You may fire when you are ready, Gridley."

The Gridley concerned (as every schoolboy should know, but this reporter had to look up in the book), was Capt. Charles V. Gridley, who was born in Logansport, Indiana, in 1844.

It was Commodore (later admiral) George Dewey who intoned the permission to start shooting at the battle of Manila Bay during the quarrel between Spain and the U.S. which both countries are now anxious to forget.

minutes, and the one-way fare would be between $8 and $10.

Reports are drifting in of a blue-eyes fish boat coming this way, perhaps to introduce something new to B.C. fishing practices.

Clifford Keating of Vancouver, is in Halifax as part owner of a 69-foot Nova Scotia fishing boat, and intends to bring her around to this coast. The boat is outfitted for bottom fishing along the pattern set by Danish seine boats and introduced to Nova Scotia waters about six years ago.

Capt. William Paine and a Vancouver crew will bring the boat around via the Panama, expecting to arrive in B.C. in about a month.

'Lost' Fisherman Asleep on Deep

Giant Rescue Armada—Men, Planes, Ships

By LESLIE MILLIN

A Victoria fisherman slept in his boat Thursday morning, oblivious to a search being carried on for him for about five hours.

George Edward Wragg, 187 Helmcken, was the target of an Air-Sea Rescue search that involved:

Three RCN minesweepers, with crew of 40 men each:

One RCN tracker aircraft, with crew of 4;

One Air-Sea Rescue Albatross, with crew of 6;

And one RCMP boat, Advance, with crew of two.

"I heard they had quite a few men out looking for me," said Mr. Wragg today.

LEFT WEDNESDAY

Mr. Wragg left the James Bay launching ramp Wednesday morning at about 11 to go fishing for salmon in the Pedder Bay area aboard his 17-foot outboard cabin cruiser Snagge.

He was alone, and was expected back Wednesday evening.

When he hadn't shown up Thursday morning at 8, his wife—after a sleepless night—turned in the alarm.

Between 8 a.m. and 12:57 p.m., when the search was officially called off, Air-Sea Rescue logged 347 man-hours looking for him.

NAVAL EXERCISE

That includes the time of the three minesweepers—HMC ships Fortune, Cowichan and Miramichi—as well as the hours put in by the two aircraft and the RCMP boat.

Interviewed Thursday morning, before her husband turned up at the James Bay launching ramp, Mrs. Wragg was sure her husband would have contacted her if he had to stay out overnight.

She thought he might have had to beach the boat if it had engine trouble. She said he knew the waters around Pedder Bay well.

HIGH WIND BLOWING

Mr. Wragg said today that he had taken shelter in a small bay at Albert Head because a high wind was blowing.

He climbed into his sleeping bag for the night, and "I guess I overslept."

He turned his radio on again at 10 a.m. Thursday, and then headed for Victoria when he heard there was a search on for him.

He hadn't caught any fish. When reporters tried to contact him for comment Thursday night, he was not available.

He was out fishing again. He didn't catch anything then, either.

VISITORS from Texas are Mr. and Mrs. Parry McClure.

Today's Tourists

By MARGE GILROY

If you think everything is bigger and better in Texas you should hear what Texans have to say about Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Parry McClure of Dallas arrived recently for their fourth five-week stay in Victoria. They have nothing but good to say about the city, the people and particularly the fish.

It may be Victorians that keep the McClures here but it is the fish that lure them. Both are avid fishermen and prior to coming to the west coast they went to Maine. But the Atlantic fog made them try the Pacific and their trek to Vancouver Island has become an annual event.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure travel by train and Fifi, the French poodle, drives up with Speedy, the chauffeur.

Speedy loves Victoria as much or more than the McClures. He has an "in" with the Chinese cooks at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel where the McClures stay every year. He keeps them happy with his catch of cod.

As close as Mrs. McClure could come to a complaint was that the food was "bad for the figure" and she hasn't been able to get her "ham and grits." This year she brought her own grits with her.

Where and how to go fishing poses no problem for these southerners. They have made more fishing friends in Victoria than most natives make in a lifetime.

The Texans may love Victoria but it seems Victorians find them just as charming.

NON-STOPPER STOPPED??

The whereabouts of Earl Speakman, who is trying to set a non-stop walking record from Victoria to Nanaimo and back, was not known at 1 p.m. today.

Last reports said Speakman passed through Ladysmith at 8 this morning on the way back to Victoria, but The Times' Duncan correspondent could not locate him at 11:30.

He has either quit, or he has passed through Duncan on the last leg.

Fellow traveller, Norm Patenaude dropped out at midnight in Nanaimo.

Will Upheld; Cat People Get $10,000

A Victoria woman who left $10,000 to the Cats' Protection League here was mentally competent when she made her will.

Mr. Justice J. G. Rutan upheld the will made by the late Marguerite Crawford Alexander, who died March 5, 1961, at the age of 72.

His decision was handed down in Vancouver on Thursday. Mrs. Alexander's will had been contested by her sister, Marion Agnes Clegg, 1624 Bank Street, in a trial at Victoria in June.

Mrs. Clegg had alleged that her sister was suffering from "paranoid depressive tendencies" at the time the will was executed, and that she preferred cats to human beings.

The court was told that Mrs. Alexander had suffered from loneliness after her husband's death, and took great solace in the seven to 15 cats she kept in her home.

After she died, the seven cats she had at the time were distributed among members of the Cats' Protection League.

Friends appearing at the trial said that Mrs. Alexander was a brilliant woman, with a keen sense of humor, talented and mentally alert.

At the trial, Mrs. Clegg denied that there was any ill feeling between herself and her sister.

She also denied asking Mrs. Alexander to get rid of her cats, and said she never circulated a petition to have Mrs. Alexander placed in a mental institution.

Phantom 'Cat' Seen Again Near Victoria

Report of a cougar being sighted in the vicinity of Victoria was received early this morning.

This is the fourth report of cougars in the area since Monday.

However, no trace of the animal has been found by investigating provincial game branch officials.

Today's report that a cougar was spotted near the Trans-Canada Highway to the west of the Theta Lake overpass was received at 1:20 a.m.

Game warden Jack Lenfesty with dogs investigated a report of two cougars sighted Wednesday near Dean Park, but no tracks were discovered and the dogs failed to find a trace of the cougars' alleged visit.

Two reports of a cougar in the same area were received Monday.

Game officials said similar reports are received "periodically."

"But in 90 per cent of the cases we fail to find any evidence that the animal sighted was a cougar," he said.

Ask The Times

Q. I would like to know if all creatures have hearts (such as insects and mammals). D.T.

A. Not all creatures have hearts although insects and mammals do. Some primitive forms of life lack hearts.

Q. Will you please tell me what "seed" or "seeded" means in relation to tennis? E.J.

A. When players in a tennis tournament, or any tournament are seeded they are compared and rated. This is done by tournament officials so top-seeded (or rated) players won't be knocking each other out of competition in the early rounds of a tournament. Instead, they are matched against players of lesser calibre and are more likely to meet in later, more important matches.

Columbia Squires will hold a car wash in the Safeway parking lot at the corner of Quadra and Hillside on Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Molly Collins and Les Isaacson were the winners of Victoria Allstars' Duplicate Bridge Club's weekly tournament played Thursday.

Other top finishers were Evelyn Lamont and Freda Small, second; Laura Tingley and Harry Parry, third; Joan Smith and Phil Hagel, and Jack Goldie and Les Stewart, fourth place tie, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam DuPrau, fifth.

Victoria Labor Council will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Labor Hall, 613 Pandora Avenue.

Victoria Aged Pensioners Inc., No. 3, will meet Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Legion Hall, 1616 Blanshard. Members will be guests of Cedar Hill golf course each Friday this month.

A 75-year-old pedestrian was knocked down by a car as he walked across Cook at Pandora at 10:30 this morning. Phillip Head, 1422 Stanley, is reported in fair condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

His head was cut in the accident and he received leg injuries as well. At press time an X-ray was being made to determine if his leg was fractured.

The driver of the car was reported to be Roderick Thomson, 1236 Gladstone.

Two brothers who appeared in city magistrate's court this morning, charged with separate offences, were each told by Magistrate William Ostler that they are more irresponsible than criminal.

He fined Charles M. Ashe, 260 Parklands, $350 and suspended his licence for one year for impaired driving. He also bound him over for six months for driving while suspended.

Patrick T. Ashe, same address, was put on probation for six months for causing public mischief. He was also ordered to pay restitution for a $140 plate glass window that he broke.

Flying Officer B. J. Bud Pauls of Nanaimo and Cowichan Bay has been named head of public relations for the RCAF's No. 5 air division at Victoria, air force headquarters announced today. He has been in the public relations directorate in Ottawa since 1960.

It's "open house" today for the Saanich playgrounds in the mall at the Town and Country Shopping Centre.

Children from the 18 parks in the Saanich area congregated this morning in the mall equipped with hammer, nails and scotch tape.

This is the sixth summer for each of the playgrounds to put up their own display of their summer handicrafts, and the third summer at their present location.

Exhibits of ceramics, copper work, celophane poodle dogs and numerous other crafts will be on display in the mall until 9 this evening.

Displays will be judged and prizes awarded at the final closing of the summer program, August 7.

On Wednesday activities which include a fancy dress party and final playoffs of intersport sports competitions will begin at 7 p.m. in Hampton Park.

Donald Schultz, no fixed address, first of all pleaded guilty in city magistrate's court this morning to uttering a forged cheque and then, after the facts of the case were told, he denied doing it.

The cheque, for $53.13, was cashed at a drug store June 18. Detective J. H. Baxter said it was made payable to the accused and he cashed it.

Then Schultz denied he had cashed it. Magistrate William Ostler ordered his plea to be changed to one of not guilty and set his trial for next Friday.

The USS Gridley is the third ship of the fleet to be named in honor of Charles Gridley, and by long odds the most unusual.

The bureau of ships classes her as a frigate, which may confuse those of us who are used to RCN frigates. The Gridley is 533 feet long—almost as big as our former cruisers, Ontario and Quebec, which measured 335 feet. Her long forecastle and raking stem give her something of a pocket battleship appearance; and her armament is the very latest: two sets of twin "terrier" surface to air missiles; anti-submarine rockets, two triple torpedo mounts, and two sets of twin rapid fire guns.

She arrives Saturday noon. USS Interpreter, a radar picket ship coming off a six-week tour in the North Pacific, will dock three hours earlier.

Already here for the weekend are four American minesweepers, the USS Firm, Embattle, Prime and Reaper.

They're talking hydrofoil service between Victoria and Seattle again.

The firm involved is Northwest Hydrofoil Lines Inc., of Seattle. Plans to launch the service were announced Wednesday by William I. Neidermayr, president of the company.

He said a 75-passenger hydrofoil (the type of vessel which gets up on its legs at speed) is being built in Baltimore, and that it will be capable of speeds up to 46 miles an hour. Mr. Neidermayr said the trip would take 90

Park Head's Ideas Could Bring Life To Asphalt 'Wastes'

First start towards his dream of ornamental and shade trees enlivening the asphalt wastelands of big parking lots was welcomed today by city parks administrator W. H. Warren.

He praised the Mayfair Shopping Plaza developers for a decision to plant trees in the otherwise wasted triangles left at each end of the parking lot rows.

For years Mr. Warren has tried to persuade various supermarket operators to plant trees in the waste corners—he estimates a dozen trees can be planted in each acre of asphalt—but his pleas have always fallen on barren ground.

Now they will take firm root in the Mayfair project which is nearing completion at Douglas and Tolmie.

GIVE LIFT

"That should give their parking lot a lift that some of the other big lots don't have," said Mr. Warren.

"I hope that Mayfair's example starts the ball rolling towards beautifying all the shopping centre lots here."

The Town and Country Plaza for one is a horrible example of how not to build a huge parking lot.

"They just don't have any trees to break up the vast expanse of asphalt."

"And that's true of the other lots, too."

Mr. Warren said in a few instances—taken plantings of a few shrubs have been made but nothing of significance to improve the bare surfaces with living trees.

He added that changes would undoubtedly come if shoppers made their wishes known.

"This is the sort of thing that needs patron support—and I'm sure Mayfair will get it."

Mr. Warren also reported that the city's program of planting trees downtown, which began this year, is proving satisfactory.

Only two were damaged by vandals of the dozens planted on Douglas Street and all of the trees are growing well.

He added that Mayfair Plaza's co-operation with the city on the tree question would be reciprocated next spring when the parks department plants boulevard trees along the sidewalks in front of the shopping centre as part of the Douglas beautification program.

Motorcyclist Hurt In Bus Collision

A motorcyclist who told police his throttle stuck, crashed into a Hydro bus Thursday and had to be taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Robert Messerschmidt, 19, of 2313 Graham, was released after treatment for cuts and bruises to his arms and legs.

He was pulling away from the front of his home when his cycle went out of control. He ran into a parked bus.

DEAR ABBY...

She's No Baby Doll!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our son brought his girl (from a large city) home for us to meet. She is 21, and our son is 24. The girl was invited to be our guest for as long as she wishes. We have four other children, from 12 to 19. We welcomed this girl with open arms, but she started a war the first night she was here. She wears nylon, see-through baby doll pyjamas, and thinks nothing of coming out in the evening to watch TV in that outfit. And in front of everybody! My husband is only 43, Abby, and that is not old. The younger children remark that Daddy is wearing sun glasses in the house so nobody can see his eyes roll around. My son says he doesn't see anything wrong with it. I offered the girl my red and green plaid bath robe, but she refused it. How can I impress upon her that it isn't right to sit around in front of my family like that?

AT A LOSS.

DEAR AT: No 21-year-old girl can be this naive. Tell your son if he doesn't see anything wrong with it. YOU do. Give him five minutes in which to straighten her out. And if he doesn't do it—it's your assignment, Mother.

DEAR ABBY: Silly as this may seem, I would like to clear something up. I am a bachelor by choice. I live with a divorced sister, age 71. She has a habit of yawning. I know it is no crime to yawn, but she should see my sister! She opens her mouth so wide it is a wonder she doesn't dislocate her jaw. She never makes an effort to stifle her yawn even slightly, nor does she cover her mouth. Correct me if I'm wrong, but isn't it possible to yawn with one's mouth closed? I do it all the time. It is not quite as satisfying as yawning with an open mouth, but in public it's rude to show one's tonsils. My sister tells me I am crazy, that no one can yawn with their mouth closed. Well, I do. Am I the rare bird? Or is she just stubborn?

KEEP ME NAMELESS.

DEAR NAMELESS: IT IS possible to yawn with one's mouth closed. But few people have the control to do it. There is no excuse however for failing to cover one's mouth while yawning.

DEAR ABBY: Can a man get a divorce on the grounds of extravagance? I make $12,000 a year and my wife spends that much and puts me in debt besides. She is a social climber and spends her days buying out the stores. I tried giving her an allowance but she spent the allowance and ran up bills, too. I had to pay the bills or allow my credit to be ruined. If I didn't have children, I would leave her tonight. What can a man do with a wife like this?

DISCOURAGED AND BROKE DEAR D AND B: It is obvious that your wife isn't able to manage money. So YOU manage it. Charge accounts can be closed, you know. So close them. Set up a budget and give your wife "pocket money."

DEAR ABBY: I think Aggie's trick with the cat food canapes was a good one! Your readers can be assured that fresh cat food would never hurt anybody; their food is as carefully inspected as ours—if not more so. And somebody ought to tell "Must Know" that if one gets sick after a cocktail party, it wasn't the CANAPES.

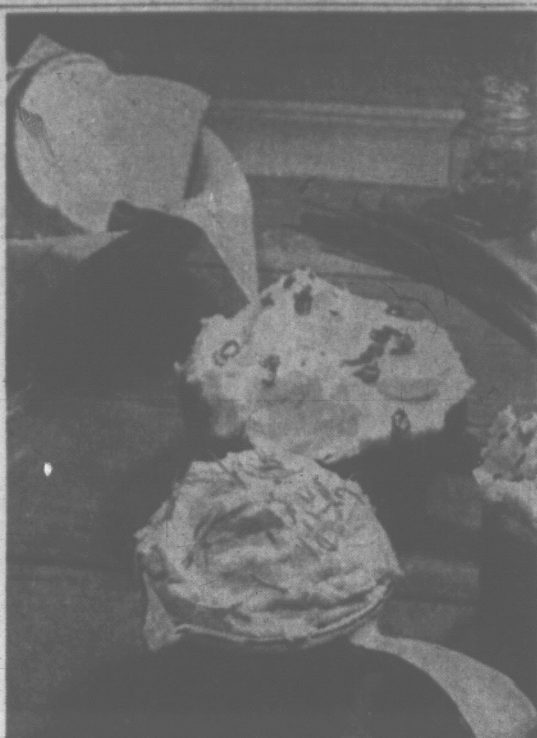

Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BE SMART—

When the first cool wind blows, whip yourself up our sleeveless coat! Simply cut a straight front and back of heavy wool, put sides together with ribbon or leather ties or handsome gold safety pins or your own invention! Fall warmth over suits or sweaters, toasty at home by itself.

Seasoned butter—just right for those lazy, hazy days of summer. Make up several and keep them handy in the refrigerator.

Perfect for Sandwiches

Seasoned butters are tasty and handy to have on hand for either family-size or dainty tea sandwiches. They're good, too, on open face sandwiches and canapes. Spread them on hot rolls or thinly sliced bread strips and serve them with salads.

Here are some of the "butters" that rate high. You'll enjoy trying them and perhaps you'll develop more flavor combinations yourself.

Prepare them for use in sandwiches by creaming butter until soft. Gradually stir in other ingredients, varying the amount of seasoning according to your taste.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Sometimes Active Girls' Problems Are Muscles

(The Question Box)

Q. "I am 15 years old, 5 feet, 5 inches tall and weigh 135 pounds. My bust measures 38 inches, waist 25 and hips 35 inches. I think I have been on a continual diet since I was in the sixth grade. I gain weight very easily and can't understand it because I am very active, especially in swimming. I tend to accumulate fat around my waist. Please tell me how much overweight I am and what kind of diet I should eat. Because I am so active I almost starve to death when I diet. I think I have a medium frame."

A. The charts give about 122 pounds as the correct weight for you. However, if you are mistaken in the type frame you have and it should be large, you are not overweight. Your measurements do not sound like overweight. The rather large bustline measurement may reflect the size of the rib cage as well as the bust. In other words it may indicate a large frame.

Also remember another factor. Since you are so very athletic your muscles must be well developed. This makes a big difference too. Perhaps you are not fat at all.

Measurements sometimes give a truer indication than weight. However if you still feel that you are overweight just cut down on portions and cut out all snacking.

Q. "I am 15 years old and have a problem. My measurements are bust 35 inches, waist 22 and hips 35 inches. My problem is that my abdomen is very fat. No matter how I try I can't seem to make it flat. I was on a diet and started losing in my bust but not over my abdomen. I am desperate!"

A. If you are not overweight exercise is your answer. If you are overweight you should diet as well as take abdominal slimming exercises. Do not lose too rapidly and take abdominal-slimming and bustline-increasing exercises. If any of my readers would like to have these exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for them to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

If you would like to have my Eight-Week Beauty Improvement Plan to help you become lovely for fall, send 25 cents and your printed name and address. Send to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Cook With Aluminum Foil To Save Money and Labor

By PENNY SAVER

These days it's no villain in the Penny household that cries, "Foil again!"—it's me (excuse, it is I.)

The shout is exultant rather than frustrated, and it indicates that once more I have made use of my roll of aluminum foil and a little booklet that arrived in the office this week.

Book is put out by the manufacturers of a well-known aluminum foil wrap and gives any number of suggestions about how to cook using this product.

I'm passing the idea on to you as the book is now available free of charge to Canadian housewives.

Then you too can discover that you actually save money by using foil wrap. For instance, you can buy less expensive cuts of meat, and by preparing them with foil wrap, seal in the flavor and give them the taste of expensive cuts.

One suggestion particularly for round or flanked steak you might try this weekend.

Place a one-inch thick slice of the meat (about 1 1/4 to 2 pounds) on a sheet of heavy duty foil wrap. Season the meat with salt and pepper; top with onion-rings, sprinkle with lemon juice and top with a mixture of 1 cup of ketchup and 1/4-cup flour. Secure the foil wrap tightly around the meat. Place in a shallow pan and bake in a hot oven at 450-degrees for about 1 1/2 hours or until tender.

Foil helps when cooking fish, too. Not only does the fish steam in its own juices for a added flavor, but it makes the baking dish so easy to clean—all you have to do is throw away the foil!

Prices of foil are not markedly different. Heavy duty type is 69 cents for roll 18 inches by 25 feet. Ordinary kind is priced at 37 cents for roll 12 inches by 25 feet, or comes in an economy roll at 95 cents that contains 75 feet.

Call Penny at 382-3131 if you would like the address where you may write to obtain the booklet.

Wed Here, to Live in Courtenay

After a honeymoon at Banff and Lake Louise, Mr. and Mrs. George Joseph Shaw will make their home in Courtenay.

Rev. J. R. Parker officiated at their marriage in St. Mary's Anglican Church. Bride is the former Anne Mary Townsend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Townsend, 951 Beach Drive, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaw of Courtenay.

White gladioli formed church decor and pews were marked with white satin bows and white bells. Stanley Martin sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Entering the church on her father's arm, the bride wore a floor-length gown of candlelight blue d'angle that had fine French lace etching the portrait neckline and side panels of skirt that swept back to a train. Lace and a matching rose formed the headpiece that held a bouffant chapel-length veil. White roses and stephanotis were in her bouquet. Only jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings.

MAIDS IN BLUE

Bridesmaids, the Misses Myra and Nan Shaw and Sheila Townsend were in similar gowns of delphinium blue nylon sheer over blue taffeta.

All had blue circle necklaces and wore silver locket, gift of the bride. They carried yellow roses and gladioli.

Best man was Jack Follett and ushering guests were Bruce Balkie and Patrick Sheek.

Eric Turner proposed the toast at a reception in the home of the bride's parents. Yellow roses, white tulle and white candles in crystal candelabra flanked the wedding cake which centred a table, covered with a cloth crested by the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Herman Townsend. White gladioli completed decor.

Out-of-town guests attended from Courtenay, Comox, Campbell River, Nanaimo and the mainland.

For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a sheath dress of floral taffeta in blue, mauve and turquoise with a mauve taffeta redingote. Accessories were white.

PROFUMO OFF TO SCOTLAND WITH SON, 7

LONDON (UPI)—Former war minister John Profumo, whose relations with call girl Christine Keeler led to the scandal still rocking Britain, left for Scotland by plane with his seven-year-old son today.

They reportedly are going on vacation.

Profumo, who is independently wealthy, has been spending his time between his town house and Switzerland and Italy since he resigned as war minister and lost his seat in the House of Commons.

On previous trips abroad, he has gone with his wife, former actress Valerie Hobson.

Register Now On Municipal Voters' List

Registration for municipal voters' lists opened Thursday.

They close Sept. 30 and anyone not on them by then will be denied a ballot in the December civic elections.

Property owners don't have to worry—their names go on the voting rolls automatically as owner-electors.

But last year's resident-electors and tenant-electors will have to complete forms being sent out today and return them to their municipal halls confirming they are still qualified.

"If those forms are not returned, their names will be struck off the list," warned city clerk Frank Hunter.

Any resident or tenant-electors who was not on last year's lists will have to register in person at the appropriate municipal hall.

All voters must be 21 years of age and British subjects.

In addition, non-property owners in a municipality must have rented either living or working space for six months prior to registration in order to qualify for resident or tenant-electors status.

City Short Of Good Citizens

Only nine nominations have been received for Victoria's 1963 Good Citizen.

Normally there are up to 35 nominations by this time, say disappointed officials of the Native Sons of B.C. Post No. 1.

"Surely there are more people than that who can qualify for this honor."

Nominations will be received until midnight Aug. 10, and the award will be made in Beacon Hill Park Aug. 18.

Letters of nomination should be mailed to R. H. Hiscocks, 609 Trutch. They should say why the nominee should get the award.

Services Today For Volunteer CNIB Worker

Funeral services were to be held today for Mrs. Charlotte Fraser Armstrong, well-known for her volunteer work on behalf of the blind and other local charities.

Mrs. Armstrong, who lived at 1630 York Place, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Wednesday after a long illness.

She was 76.

She came to Victoria in 1920, was a charter member of the women's auxiliary to the local branch of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in 1932.

She was actively engaged in driving the blind, and other volunteer work until becoming ill about three years ago.

Mrs. Armstrong is also remembered for her garden parties on behalf of the CNIB, St. John Ambulance and other organizations.

During the Second World War she worked with the Salvation Army.

Mrs. Armstrong, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. A. Fraser, belonged to a prominent family in Ottawa, where she was born.

She is survived by a nephew, Bruce S. Evans, in Vancouver.

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. Dr. J. L. W. McLean, were scheduled for 2 p.m. in Chaplin's Funeral Chapel. Cremation was to follow.

56-Day Sitting

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament heads today toward a summer holiday.

Both the Commons and the Senate worked extra time Thursday night in the hope that unfinished business could be cleaned up and Parliament adjourned until Sept. 30.

No party and no politician could say for sure how quickly legislation still on the books could be processed through the various stages of Parliament in time for royal assent tonight.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Opposition today launched a last-ditch offensive against the gradual application of the 11-per-cent sales tax to building materials and production machinery in the Commons. Opposition Leader Diefenbaker moved an amendment to the legislation formally approving the tax announced in the June 13 budget.

All MPs, however, seemed eager to break away from Ottawa's hot weather and heated politics after 56 days of sitting since Parliament opened May 16.

The government has 20 items of business on the order paper, but it has said that most of them could be left until the fall session.

SEEK ROYAL ASSENT

Today, the government wants to clear through the Commons and the Senate and get royal assent for legislation that:

1. Imposes the 11-per-cent sales tax and excise tax changes as proposed in Finance Minister Gordon's budget and changed in subsequent amendments.

2. Creates an economic council for Canada—a new body composed of labor, management and government representatives that would help plan the economic future of the country.

3. Places Parliament's stamp of approval on the temporary surcharges imposed on imports last year—thus barring court actions contesting the legality of the surcharges.

4. Establishes a $400,000,000 municipal loan fund to provide money for job-making projects in co-operation with the provinces.

5. Gives the government enough money to carry on until Parliament resumes its work in the fall.

HINTS ADJOURNMENT

As the Commons sat an hour past its normal 10 o'clock closing Thursday, State Secretary Pickersill, government leader in the House, gave weary MPs an optimistic forecast.

The way things were going, he said, it would probably be possible to clean up in time for an adjournment tonight.

Unions Legislation Must Wait—Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Quick drafting is not possible for the legislation imposing a federal trusteeship on five marine unions, Prime Minister Pearson said today.

It would be impossible in a short time to draw up the legislation, settle some constitutional problems and consult the provinces involved, he informed Opposition Leader Diefenbaker in the Commons.

Mr. Diefenbaker had renewed a request to have the legislation brought in now rather than at resumption of Parliament next Sept. 30, as announced Thursday.

Mr. Pearson replied that Mr. Diefenbaker must know of the intricacies involved and that Mr. Diefenbaker further surely would question the propriety of using cabinet decisions to back up the legislation. Yet such orders-in-council would be required if action was taken now.

The Commons, planning to recess today or Saturday, would have to continue sitting two or

CALLING ALL DUCKS!

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rain-fall here set a new July record with 2.54 inches measured at the airport compared with the previous high of 2.11 in 1957. There were only 234.6 hours of sunshine last month compared with a normal 307. The rainfall in downtown Vancouver reached 3.03 inches, more than double the normal level.

PEARSON DISMISSES GORDON QUERY

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson gave no definite reply in the Commons today when asked about a published report that Donald Gordon's appointment as CNR president will not be renewed.

Douglas Fisher (NDP—Port Arthur) referred to a report in the Montreal newspaper Le Devoir that Justice Minister Chevrier had urged Mr. Gordon's removal because of his attitude to French-speaking CNR employees.

Mr. Fisher said he hoped the story was "wildly speculative," and asked whether any consideration had been given to renewing Mr. Gordon's present appointment when it expires in September.

Mr. Pearson replied that the question was both out of order and "wildly speculative."

OTTAWA (CP)—Grain sales equivalent to those in the expiring agreement are covered in a new arrangement with Red China to be announced later today, informants said.

Trade Minister Sharp and the Canadian wheat board will simultaneously announce the details which include a longer credit period in the House of Commons and at Winnipeg later today.

Mr. Sharp told the Commons today that he had just got word of the completion of the deal.

The announcement had been forecast earlier this week, with amounts of grain running closer than had been anticipated generally to the 145,000,000 bushels of wheat and 28,000,000 bushels of barley sold to Red China in the 2½-year agreement signed in April, 1961, and now expiring.

Mr. Sharp was replying to Reynolds Rapp (PC—Humboldt-Melfort-Tisdale).

The negotiations with Red China have been carried on at Hong Kong since early July by W. C. McNamara, Canadian wheat board commissioner who arranged the expiring agreement.

Marcel Lessard (SC—Lac St. Jean) asked whether the government will revise its policy of trading with Red China in view of President Kennedy's statement Thursday that Red China has become the greatest menace to world peace.

Prime Minister Pearson said there is no intention at the moment to change Canada's trade policy with China. The policy was to trade non-strategic goods only and it was governed by an agreement with Canada's NATO allies.

SEVEN KILLED

Gas Station Explosion 'Went Off Like a Bomb'

HANMER, Ont. (CP)—The body of a teen-age girl was recovered today from the fire-ravaged wreckage of a combined service station and restaurant, raising the toll to seven killed in the explosion which tore apart the building Thursday night.

The victims included two small children, their mothers and grandmother.

Police today completed their identification of the bodies of the children—mutilated almost beyond recognition—and the others who died in the blast, believed sparked by gasoline leaking from a truck that was filling the service station tanks.

Hanmer is a township of about 5,000 persons a few miles north of Sudbury in northern Ontario's nickel belt area.

Searchers dug from the rubble the charred body of Jo Anne Marois, 15, who had been missing and presumed dead since the explosion.

The others killed were Mrs. Alma D'Amour, 44; her daughters, Mrs. Estelle Cloutier, 27, and Mrs. Earl Matte, 28; Mrs. Cloutier's 17-month-old son,

B.C. Plane Missing

VANCOUVER (CP)—An air-sea rescue search master went to Prince Rupert today to direct the search for a light plane missing in the north coast area with two persons aboard. The single-engine Piper Cub owned by Omineca Air Service of Burns Lake, was piloted by Douglas Carey, 28, a B.C. student from Kamloops.

MONTREAL (CP) — Three persons charged in connection with recent terrorist activities blamed on Le Front de Liberation Quebecois were granted bail today. Two others had their applications turned down.

Balloting Could End Dispute

Fishermen's Unions Vote on Arbitration

B.C.'s seventy million dollar fishermen's strike seems to be near an end. With fisheries shoreworkers back on the job as of 8 a.m. today, and union leaders prepared to accept arbitration, net salmon fishermen will now cast their crucial ballots.

Members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) and the Native Brotherhood of B.C. were to vote today on a proposal for a single arbitrator to settle the 21-day dispute.

The Fisheries Association of B.C., representing management, has already agreed to the proposal.

UNION LEADERS AGREE

So have union leaders—with the stipulation that the union will "submit details of our concepts of terms of reference and scope of arbitration."

This stipulation, included in a letter accepting the arbitration proposal put forward by federal Fisheries Minister Robichaud and B.C. Labor Minister Peterson, leads management to believe the union may want matters other than fish price included in the proceedings of the arbitrator.

Fish price and wages are the cause of the strike.

If the union members accept their leaders' recommendation to submit to arbitration, the more than 10,000 brotherhood and union members will be back to work no later than 6 p.m. Sunday.

$10 MILLION COST

So far, the strike has cost more than ten million dollars to an industry valued at about seventy million dollars annually to the province.

The union has asked for 12 cents a pound for pink salmon, the fish usually used for canning. Management has offered 10 cents.

There are wage demands for shoreworkers and tendermen, and demands about prices on other species of salmon, but the price of pinks seems to be the main dispute.

Adding heat to the dispute has been the phenomenal run of salmon this season.

U.S. fishermen have been having their best sockeye season since 1903, having caught 750,000 sockeye so far this season, estimated at about half the year's run.

PINK HARVEST GOOD

Government Accepts Lett Price

By FRANK BUTTER

In a surprise second look that reversed previous policy, Premier Bennett Thursday announced the government is prepared to pay an extra $21,000,000 for B.C. Electric.

CHRISTINE PAYS OUT

LONDON (AP)—A London court today fined Christine Keeler £6 ($18) for two parking meter offences outside the West End flat where she is staying with a friend. The 21-year-old playgirl, who once shared a flat with Dr. Stephen Ward, also was ordered to pay costs amounting to £2 2s ($6.30).

Miss Keeler pleaded guilty through her lawyers, but stayed home.

Dr. Ward Still In Deep Coma

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Stephen Ward failed to respond to treatment for an overdose of drugs and bronchial and pneumonia and drifted closer to death today.

A spokesman for St. Stephen's Hospital said Ward's physician "has expressed increasing concern for his patient."

The society osteopath has been in a coma since he took an overdose of drugs Wednesday shortly before he was convicted of living off the earnings of prostitutes.

Ward was breathing with the aid of an artificial lung and receiving nutrition and stimulants intravenously.

NO IMPROVEMENT

He had shown no improvement since Thursday night, when he was said to be barely alive.

Julie Gulliver, 23-year-old red-haired singer, told reporters: "There's a whole crowd of people right now praying for Dr. Ward."

U.S. Sets Arms Embargo On S. Africa

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United States announced today it is banning by the end of 1963 the sale of all weapons and military equipment to South Africa because of that country's racial separation policies.

The embargo was disclosed by U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson in a speech before the United Nations Security Council. He spoke after Ghanas Alex Quaison-Sackey had denounced South Africa as an outlaw and asked the council to consider expelling it from the UN.

Judge's Son Indicted For Traffic Homicide

NEW YORK (AP)—A Bronx grand jury today indicted Gareth Martinis, a judge's 23-year-old son, for vehicular homicide in a three-car, five-death collision May 13.

District Attorney Isidore Dolinger, had asked the grand jury to consider new charges against young Martinis in a public uproar which followed the five-minute deliberation and acquittal of Martinis by three of his father's colleagues.

Gareth is the son of Criminal Court Judge Joseph A. Martinis.

The 23-member grand jury indicted Martinis on a much graver charge than the counts—reckless and drunken driving, and leaving the scene of an accident—for which he had been tried and freed.

The vehicular homicide indictment contained five counts, one for each person killed in the highway crash. Conviction could result in a five-year sentence for each count.

The indictment also charged Martinis with third-degree as-

GIVE ME TWO MARTINIS AND ONE BIKINI PLEASE

By DIAL TORGERSON
LOS ANGELES (AP) — That's funny, you think, walking into the dim, cool restaurant from the footfalls to the sea, the men get something extra: A "fashion review."

The number of fashion shows presented each week is steadily growing, despite the suspicions of countless wives, barbed comments by innumerable secretaries, and outright hostility of those who produce high fashion shows for ladies in the tearooms of the towns.

Leaders of professional modelling groups and fashion salons have termed the bistro offerings mere "skin shows." One newspaper denounced them as immoral.

And guess what happened? Business improved.

The whole thing started about four years ago by a restaurant owner with a bored, male luncheon trade and a lingerie store owner who couldn't get men into her shop.

The lingerie lady draped the fluff on statuesque girls,

and marched them past the businessmen at the restaurant.

After the first shock—when a few toothpicks went down with the martini olives—worked out this way:

Businessmen crowded into the fashion show restaurants to oggle and chat with pretty girls clad in bikinis, baby dolls, negligees, bathing suits and the like.

The restaurants, few of whom have costly entertainment licenses, found themselves with a show so spectacular the customers forgot to complain about the service.

And here's the surprising part: The lingerie sales were terrific.

U.K. TO TRY WOOD HOUSES

OTTAWA (CP) — Three pairs of Canadian-built timber houses will be erected in Britain on the recommendation of a recent British timber mission to this country.

It also proposes—with agreement in principle from both governments—that another 200 such houses should be put in a military housing scheme or the like to display cost experience plus the possibilities of layout and planning.

The timber mission here a few weeks ago was impressed with the techniques used by Canadian builders in assembly of timber houses. Britain's traditional materials have been stone, cement and brick.

The six two-storey houses being erected by the Canadian government in Scotland, the Midlands and southern England will demonstrate the techniques, tools and speed of Canadian practices.

B.C. Lumber Foreign Sales On Increase

VANCOUVER (CP) — A new marketing era is opening for the market-conscious lumber producers of the British Columbia Interior.

They are attempting to develop alternative markets to those in the United States which at present are by far the largest buyers of Canadian lumber.

Some 5,000,000 board feet of dried and packaged spruce was sold in competition with Scandinavian suppliers for the manufacture of citrus boxes in Israel.

The shipment was negotiated by Seaboard Lumber Sales Company Ltd. for Overseas Spruce Sales Limited and Northwood Mills Limited, both of Prince George.

Overseas Spruce, a member of Seaboard, was formed recently in Prince George area sawmill operators to develop European markets for spruce.

Northwood is a subsidiary of Noranda Mines.

The moves by B.C. timber men to develop markets other than those in the U.S. follows agitation by American producers for protection against Canadian softwood imports.

However, B.C. producers still have a big foot in the American market and intend to keep it there while expanding sales elsewhere.

B.C. Power Makes Rise

B.C. Power sparked most of the interest on the Toronto Stock Exchange and other markets today when it gained one point and later increased its rise to 1 1/4.

The Montreal market firmed after a mid-day lull, while stocks made an irregular advance late this afternoon in New York.

Falconbridge slipped 1/4, International Nickel climbed 1/4 and Noranda gained 1/4 in senior base metals.

AT NEW YORK, steel, utilities, rails and oils advanced.

Among Canadian issues, Aluminum Ltd. was up 1/4 and International Nickel and Walker Gooderham 1/4. Distillers Seagrams and Dome Mines dropped 1/4.

Prices on the American Exchange were irregularly higher in quiet trading. Among Canadian issues, Molybdenite and Preston fell 1/4 and Scurry Rainbow Oil gained 1/4.

AT MONTREAL, gainers included Molson's B, up 1/4, Hudson Bay Mining, better by 1/4 and Page Hersey, higher by 1/4.

On the downside were Montreal Locomotive, off 1/4, and

GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices showed some irregularity in dull trade near the close today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Ons trade was light and mostly domestic.

Firmness in Chicago corn prices aided the barley market. Barley trade also received some support from domestic buying interest.

The flax market took on an easier tone but there were no immediate reports of export business.

The rye market showed firmness as a result of upturns on the Chicago rye market.

Arthur Mayse

It is high summer now, the time when the bracken turns dusty along the sideroads, and the mountain ash berries offer their orange sprays to tempt our well-plumped robins.

The leaves have made their full growth. Long gone are the pastels of the earlier year. Only the river-loving cottonwoods retain a hint of spring; elsewhere all is a full, strong green, from the tropical burnish of the arbutus to the dark of the helmeted broad-leaf maples.

But already, one can find hints of fall. Here and there in the burns, the vine maple, is turning. You may come upon a willow flecked with yellow, a dogwood with a wine leaf. In the ground cover, the change is more pronounced. The ocean spray's lavish blossom-froth will soon be withered brown enough to roll small-boy cigarettes, and it is easy to find a frond of prickly-edged Oregon grape lacquered Mandarin red.

In the tame gardens, the yellow transparents thud to the cushioning grass even when no breeze stirs. The keeping apples are beginning to color up, and the corn stands tall.

But the great, jungly surge of west coast growth is over, the lawns less demanding; and all will drowse and ripen until mellow September turns the wasps drunk with its fermented juices.

Inshore, the shoals acquire a satiny iridescence, changing with the light and the vagaries of tide. The kelp beds, whose cycle of growth and decay goes unnoted except by fishing birds and fishermen, have come to their brown-glistening maturity.

They shelter a small life which feeds a larger; this year the coho salmon have returned, to my great relief. I wasn't sure we'd ever have a proper run again. It lifts my heart to see the filp and skitter of herring minnows, and the shine of a green back through broken water.

It's a busy world, this of the inshore. The coho gulls, the trim little black-headed bonapartes, bob on the slicks between current-bands. The cormorant surfaces to toss a baitfish down the S-curve of his snaky neck, and the murelets tip their little brown stems in shallower dives.

Land scent and sea smell meet and blend here. You can spend a day prowling the kelp-line and wonder where the hours have gone.

The cove beach is given over mostly to little children with their mothers, although the older kids wander down when they happen to think of it. They've dropped the early-season fiction that the water is warm, and spend more time sunning than swimming.

The tans which the first month of school will bleach are becoming a right August brown. Getting a good tan is important; in the sand hollows among the grey old driftlogs, no marshmallow was ever toasted so carefully.

Most of the boys who once kept their exclusive stag club at the far end of the cove are working this summer. They come down after work sometimes, but they've lost the art of pure and absolute loafing, and will never regain it.

On shore—the true shore of homes and streets, black-top and business—the population is divided between those who have already spent their vacations and the smug ones whose holidays are still to come. I'm of this group, and how nice that the sun which eluded the early birds should be shining so brightly now!

In the world within a world of the downtown stores, seasons are shifted as casually as window displays.

Store summer began in April or thereabouts. It is now edging toward a close, with the kookier outdoors wear already tumbled on the sale tables and the sophisticated mannequins, which always look vaguely distressed in beach gear, becoming smart again in the new fall shades.

The 1963 automobiles are losing their new-car smell, a fragrance which some enterprising purveyor should bottle and market. There's no scent in the catalogue that exerts so potent a come-hither on the average male.

The postman drops a party invitation in our box. We weigh it against a fishing trip and fishing loses, which it wouldn't have done even a week ago.

It's summer still, and will be when we take our prudently-postponed vacation. But we'll find the first fish of the fall humpy run in the river pools, and a touch of crispness in the early mornings, and when we come home, the talk will be less of outdoor doings than of school.

Senate Search Shadowed At University

By IAIN HUNTER

Coming selection of the first president of the University of Victoria has overshadowed coming elections to the senate.

Yet it is the senate which ultimately determines the academic future of the university.

Sometime this month those members of the senate who have been elected by faculty or sit on that body under terms of the Universities Act, will hold their first meeting.

And about the middle of the month the Board of Governors are expected to announce the holding of elections by members of convocation for six members to sit on the Senate.

It is understood these elections will be held in December, just within the time-limit of Jan. 1, 1964, set by the act.

Besides the 17 members already selected, and the six to be elected by convocation, four members still have to be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

ELECTION READIED
The registrar's office at the university now is drawing up a "role of convocation" for the coming elections.

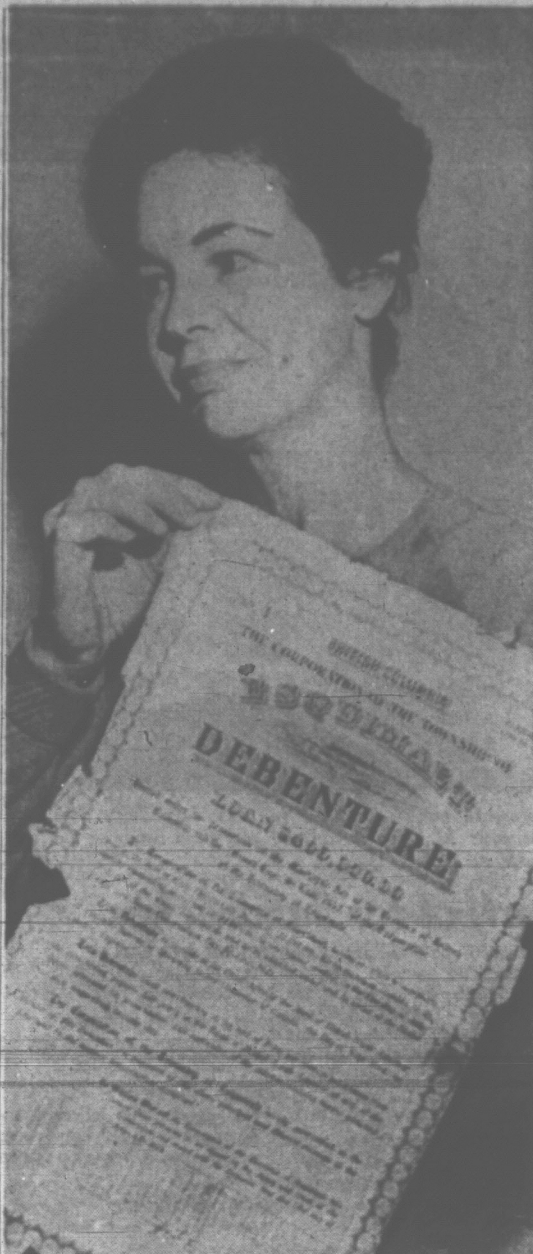

Election will include university graduates who completed matriculation in B.C.; former students of Victoria College or Normal School, and ex-members of the college council.

It is expected that the election of the chancellor of the university will be held at the same time as the senate elections. Former college council chairman Judge J. B. Clearhue was appointed chancellor from July 1 until the elections could take place.

LIST RELEASED
List of elected members to the senate was released today. Besides Chancellor Clearhue, a member under terms of the act, and acting president Harry Hickman, ex-officio chairman, they are:

Acting dean of Arts, Prof. R. T. D. Wallace; acting dean of education, Prof. H. C. Gilliland; university librarian Dean Halliwell; registrar R. R. Jeffels, as senate secretary; Arts faculty representative Roger Bishop, professor of English; education faculty representative Dr. David B. Chabassol; Dr. Peter L. Smith (classics); Dr. Richard H. J. Monk (education); Dr. Arthur Fontaine (biology); Mrs. Elizabeth Kennedy (mathematics); Dr. Roy Watson (anthropology); Dr. Izzy Din Pal (economics); Dr. Gordon Fields (biology); Dr. Geoffrey Mason (psychology); and Dr. G. Alexander Milton (psychology).

It is the senate's function to provide in general for the management and choice of curriculum and instruction at the university.

FIRST OF THE LAST 50-year debentures issued by the municipality of Esquimalt is held by municipal employee Mrs. F. L. Lougheed. Marked number one, this is the first of the $400,000 issue which is now being retired. Fifty-year issues are no longer permitted, with 20 years as the maximum now. Many of the bonds were bought back by the municipality in recent years. That's the Figard light pictured at the top of the bond.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

Well-Named Ship Carries Missiles

By MONTE ROBERTS

In case you were wondering, yes, the USN frigate visiting here this weekend was named after the protagonist in the oft-quoted order: "You may fire when you are ready, Gridley."

The Gridley concerned (as every schoolboy should know, but this reporter had to look up in the book), was Capt. Charles V. Gridley, who was born in Logansport, Indiana, in 1844.

It was Commodore (later admiral) George Dewey who intoned the permission to start shooting at the battle of Manila Bay during the quarrel between Spain and the U.S. which both countries are now anxious to forget.

The USS Gridley is the third ship of the fleet to be named in honor of Charles Gridley, and by long odds the most unusual.

The bureau of ships classes her as a frigate, which may confuse those of us who are used to RCN frigates. The Gridley is 533 feet long—almost as big as our former cruisers, Ontario and Quebec, which measured 535 feet. Her long forecastle and raking stem give her something of a pocket battleship appearance; and her armament is the very latest: two sets of twin "terrier" surface to air missiles, anti-submarine rockets, two triple torpedo mounts, and two sets of twin rapid fire guns.

She arrives Saturday noon. USS Interpreter, a radar picket ship coming off a six-week tour in the North Pacific, will dock three hours earlier.

Already here for the weekend are four American minesweepers, the USS Firm, Embattle, Prime and Reaper.

They're talking hydrofoil service between Victoria and Seattle again.

The firm involved is Northwest Hydrofoil Lines Inc., of Seattle. Plans to launch the service were announced Wednesday by William I. Neidermayr, president of the company.

He said a 75-passenger hydrofoil (the type of vessel which gets up on its legs at speed) is being built in Baltimore, and that it will be capable of speeds up to 46 miles an hour. Mr. Neidermayr said the trip would take 90 minutes, and the one-way fare would be between $8 and $10.

Reports are drifting in of a blue-nosed fish boat coming this way, perhaps to introduce something new to B.C. fishing practices.

Clifford Keeping of Vancouver, is in Halifax as part owner of a 69-foot Nova Scotia fishing boat, and intends to bring her around to this coast. The boat is outfitted for bottom fishing along the pattern set by Danish seine boats and introduced to Nova Scotia waters about six years ago.

Capt. William Paine and a Vancouver crew will bring the boat around via the Panama, expecting to arrive in B.C. in about a month.

Park Head's Ideas Could Bring Life To Asphalt 'Wastes'

First start towards his dream of ornamental and shade trees enlivening the asphalt wastelands of big parking lots was welcomed today by city parks administrator W. H. Warren.

He praised the Mayfair Shopping Plaza developers for a decision to plant trees in the otherwise wasted triangles left at each end of the parking lot rows.

For years Mr. Warren has tried to persuade various supermarket operators to plant trees in the waste corners—he estimates a dozen trees can be planted in each acre of asphalt—but his pleas have always fallen on barren ground.

Now they will take firm root in the Mayfair project which is nearing completion at Douglas and Tolmie.

GIVE LIFT

"That should give their parking lot a lift that some of the other big lots don't have," said Mr. Warren.

"I hope that Mayfair's example starts the ball rolling towards beautifying all the shopping centre lots here."

"The Town and Country Plaza for one is a horrible example of how not to build a large parking lot. They just don't have any trees to break up the vast expanse of asphalt."

'Lost' Fisherman Asleep on Deep

Giant Rescue Armada—Men, Planes, Ships

By LESLIE MILLIN

A Victoria fisherman slept in his boat Thursday morning, oblivious to a search being carried on for him for about five hours.

George Edward Wragg, 187 Helmcken, was the target of an Air-Sea Rescue search that involved:

Three RCN minesweepers, with crew of 40 men each:

- One RCN tracker aircraft, with crew of 4;
- One Air-Sea Rescue Albatross, with crew of 6;
- And one RCMP boat, Advance, with crew of two.

"I heard they had quite a few men out looking for me," said Mr. Wragg today.

LEFT WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Wragg left the James Bay launching ramp Wednesday morning at about 11 to go fishing for salmon in the Peder Bay area aboard his 17-foot outboard cabin cruiser Snagge.

He was alone, and was expected back Wednesday evening.

When he hadn't shown up Thursday morning at 8, his wife—after a sleepless night—turned in the alarm.

Between 8 a.m. and 12:57 p.m. when the search was officially called off, Air-Sea Rescue logged 347 man-hours looking for him.

NAVAL EXERCISE

That includes the time of the three minesweepers—HMC ships Fortune, Cowichan and Miramichi—as well as the hours put in by the two aircraft and the RCMP boat.

Interviewed Thursday morning, before her husband turned up at the James Bay launching ramp, Mrs. Wragg was sure her husband would have contacted her if he had to stay out overnight.

She thought he might have had to beach the boat if it had engine trouble. She said he knew the waters around Peder Bay well.

HIGH WIND BLOWING

Mr. Wragg said today that he had taken shelter in a small bay at Albert Head because a high wind was blowing.

He climbed into his sleeping bag for the night, and "I guess I overslept."

He turned his radio on again at 10 a.m. Thursday, and then headed for Victoria when he heard there was a search on for him.

He hadn't caught any fish. When reporters tried to contact him for comment Thursday night, he was not available.

He was out fishing again. He didn't catch anything then, either.

VISITORS from Texas are Mr. and Mrs. Parry McClure.

Today's Tourists

By MARGE GILROY

If you think everything is bigger and better in Texas you should hear what Texans have to say about Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Parry McClure of Dallas arrived recently for their fourth five-week stay in Victoria. They have nothing but good to say about the city, the people and particularly the fish.

It may be Victorians that keep the McClures here but it is the fish that lure them. Both are avid fishermen and prior to coming to the west coast they went to Maine. But the Atlantic fog made them try the Pacific and their trek to Vancouver Island has become an annual event.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure travel by train and Fifi, the French poodle, drives up with Speedy, the chauffeur.

Speedy loves Victoria as much or more than the McClures. He has an "in" with the Chinese cooks at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel where the McClures stay every year. He keeps them happy with his catch of cod.

As close as Mrs. McClure could come to a complaint was that the food was "bad for the figure" and she hasn't been able to get her "ham and grills." This year she brought her own grills with her.

Where and how to go fishing poses no problem for these southerners. They have made more fishing friends in Victoria than most natives make in a lifetime.

The Texans may love Victoria but it seems Victorians find them just as charming.

NON-STOPPER STOPPED??

The whereabouts of Earl Speakman, who is trying to set a non-stop walking record from Victoria to Nanaimo and back, was not known at 1 p.m. today.

Last reports said Speakman passed through Ladysmith at 8 this morning on the way back to Victoria, but The Times' Duncan correspondent could not locate him at 11:30.

He has either quit, or he has passed through Duncan on the last leg.

Fellow traveller Norm Patennude dropped out at midnight in Nanaimo.

Will Upheld; Cat People Get $10,000

A Victoria woman who left $10,000 to the Cats' Protection League here was mentally competent when she made her will.

Mr. Justice J. G. Rutan upheld the will made by the late Marguerite Crawford Alexander, who died March 5, 1961, at the age of 72.

His decision was handed down in Vancouver on Thursday. Mrs. Alexander's will had been contested by her sister, Marion Agnes Clegg, 1624 Bank Street, in a trial at Victoria in June.

Mrs. Clegg had alleged that her sister was suffering from "paranoid depressive tendencies" at the time the will was executed, and that she preferred cats to human beings.

The court was told that Mrs. Alexander had suffered from loneliness after her husband's death, and took great solace in the seven to 15 cats she kept in her home.

After she died, the seven cats she had at the time were distributed among members of the Cats' Protection League. Friends appearing at the trial said that Mrs. Alexander was a brilliant woman, with a keen sense of humor, talented and mentally alert.

At the trial, Mrs. Clegg denied that there was any ill feeling between herself and her sister.

She also denied asking Mrs. Alexander to get rid of her cats, and said she never circulated a petition to have Mrs. Alexander placed in a mental institution.

Phantom 'Cat' Seen Again Near Victoria

Report of a cougar being sighted in the vicinity of Victoria was received early this morning.

This is the fourth report of cougars in the area since Monday.

However, no trace of the animal has been found by investigating provincial game branch officials.

Today's report that a cougar was spotted near the Trans-Canada Highway to the west of the Thetis Lake overpass was received at 1:20 a.m.

Game warden Jack Lenfesty with dogs investigated a report of two cougars sighted Wednesday near Dean Park, but no tracks were discovered and the dogs failed to find a trace of the cougars' alleged visit.

Two reports of a cougar in the same area were received Monday.

Game officials said similar reports are received "periodically."

"But in 90 per cent of the cases we fail to find any evidence that the animal sighted was a cougar," he said.

Ask The Times

Q. I would like to know if all creatures have hearts (such as insects and mammals). D.T.

A. Not all creatures have hearts although insects and mammals do. Some primitive forms of life lack hearts.

Q. Will you please tell me what "seed" or "seeded" means in relation to tennis? E.J.

A. When players in a tennis tournament, or any tournament are seeded they are compared and rated. This is done by tournament officials so top-seeded (or rated) players won't be knocking each other out of competition in the early rounds of a tournament. Instead, they are matched against players of lesser calibre and are more likely to meet in later, more important matches.

Columbia Squires will hold a car wash in the Safeway parking lot at the corner of Quadra and Hillside on Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Molly Collins and Les Isaacson were the winners of Victoria Allmasters' Duplicate Bridge Club's weekly tournament played Thursday.

Victoria Aged Pensioners Inc., No. 3, will meet Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Legion Hall, 1616 Blanshard. Members will be guests of Cedar Hill golf course each Friday this month.

A 76-year-old pedestrian was knocked down by a car as he walked across Cook at Pandora at 10:30 this morning. Phillip Head, 1422 Stanley, is reported in fair condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

His head was cut in the accident and he received leg injuries as well. At press time an X-ray was being made to determine if his leg was fractured.

The driver of the car was reported to be Roderick Thomson, 1258 Gladstone.

Two brothers who appeared in city magistrate's court this morning, charged with separate offences, were each told by Magistrate William Ostler that they are more irresponsible than criminal.

He fined Charles M. Ashe, 860 Parklands, $250 and suspended his licence for one year for impaired driving. He also bound him over for six months for driving while suspended.

Patrick T. Ashe, same address, was put on probation for six months for causing public mischief. He was also ordered to pay restitution for a $149 plate glass window that he broke.

It's "open house" today for the Saanich playgrounds in the mall at the Town and Country Shopping Centre.

Children from the 18 parks in the Saanich area congregated this morning in the mall equipped with hammer, nails and scotch tape.

This is the sixth summer for each of the playgrounds to put up their own display of their summer handicrafts, and the third summer at their present location.

Exhibits of ceramics, copper work, celophane poodle dogs and numerous other crafts will be on display in the mall until 9 this evening.

Displays will be judged and prizes awarded at the final closing of the summer program, August 7.

On Wednesday activities which include a fancy dress party and final playoffs of interpark sports competitions will begin at 7 p.m. in Hampton Park.

Donald Schultz, no fixed address, first of all pleaded guilty in city magistrate's court this morning to uttering a forged cheque and then, after the facts of the case were told, he denied doing it.

The cheque, for $53.13, was cashed at a drug store June 18. Detective J. H. Baxter said it was made payable to the accused and he cashed it.

Then Schultz denied he had cashed it. Magistrate William Ostler ordered his plea to be changed to one of not guilty and set his trial for next Friday.

Youth Rescued from Rocky Ledge

TILLAMOOK, Ore. (AP) — A young man huddled all night on a rocky ledge 200 feet above the pounding surf at Neahkahnie Mountain on the northern Oregon coast and was rescued unhurt today.

The youth, James McGovern, 17, Portland, became stranded when he worked his way around a bend, found himself on a ledge about a foot wide, and could go neither forward nor back on the cliff that soars 350 feet from the ocean.

GIRL MAY TELL ALL

Dr. Ward Still In Deep Coma

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Stephen Ward failed to respond to treatment for an overdose of drugs and bronchial pneumonia and drifted closer to death today.

A spokesman for St. Stephen's Hospital said Ward's physician "has expressed increasing concern for his patient."

The society osteopath has been in a coma since he took an overdose of drugs Wednesday shortly before he was convicted of living off the earnings of prostitutes.

Ward was breathing with the aid of an artificial lung and receiving nutrition and stimulants intravenously.

NO IMPROVEMENT

He had shown no improvement since Thursday night, when he was said to be barely alive.

Julie Gulliver, 23-year-old red-haired singer, told reporters:

"There's a whole crowd of people right now praying for Stephen to die so that their names won't be mentioned."

"If he dies I'm going to make sure that they are."

As the fight for Ward's life went on, Christine Keeler was reported ill.

"She is very distressed—exhausted," a friend said. She cancelled a flight booking to Copenhagen where she was due to start filming her life story.

The friend said Christine was under heavy sedation to ease her "state of distress."

SEVEN KILLED

Gas Station Explosion
'Went Off Like a Bomb'

HANMER, Ont. (CP) — The body of a teen-age girl was recovered today from the fire-ravaged wreckage of a combined service station and restaurant, raising the toll to seven killed in the explosion which tore apart the building Thursday night.

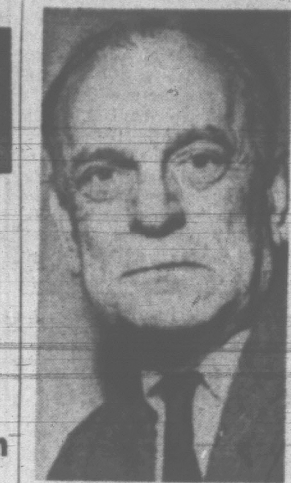

The victims included two small children, their mother and grandmother.

Police today completed their identification of the bodies of the children—mutilated almost beyond recognition—and the others who died in the blast, believed sparked by gasoline leaking from a truck that was filling the service station tanks.

Hanmer is a township of about 5,000 persons a few miles north of Sudbury in northern Ontario's nickel belt area.

Balloting
Could End
DisputeFishermen's Unions
Vote on Arbitration

B.C.'s seventy million dollar fishermen's strike seems to be near an end.

With fisheries shoreworkers back on the job as of 8 a.m. today, and union leaders prepared to accept arbitration, net salmon fishermen will now cast their crucial ballots.

Members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) and the Native Brotherhood of B.C. were to vote today on a proposal for a single arbitrator to settle the 21-day dispute.

The Fisheries Association of B.C., representing management, has already agreed to the proposal.

UNION LEADERS AGREED

So have union leaders—with the stipulation that the union will "submit details of our concepts of terms of reference and scope of arbitration."

This stipulation, included in a letter accepting the arbitration proposal put forward by federal Fisheries Minister Robert Peterson, leads management to believe the union may want matters other than fish price included in the proceedings of the arbitrator.

Fish price and wages are the cause of the strike.

If the union members accept their leaders' recommendation to submit to arbitration, the more than 10,000 brotherhood and union members will be back to work no later than 6 p.m. Sunday.

$10 MILLION COST

So far, the strike has cost more than ten million dollars to an industry valued at about seventy million dollars annually to the province.

The union has asked for 12 cents a pound for pink salmon.

B.C. Power
Wants More Than Offer

By FRANK RUTTER

In a surprise second look that reversed previous policy, Premier Bennett Thursday announced the government is prepared to pay an extra $21,000,000 for B.C. Electric.

While the announcement took some of the political heat off, it still is unclear that the legally-entmeshed power dispute is any closer to settlement.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner stuck to his guns that the constitutional right of the government to take over B.C. Electric has to be settled in the courts.

B.C. Power Corporation, the private owners of B.C. Electric, welcomed the premier's decision, but showed no immediate eagerness to accept the new price of $192,828,125.

In fact its chairman, A. Bruce Robertson, indicated the corporation expects an additional sum to compensate for the two years of government control of B.C. Electric.

Mr. Bennett, who made his announcement after a retreat to Kelowna, argued that B.C. Power had asked the courts to set a fair price, this had been done, and should be accepted.

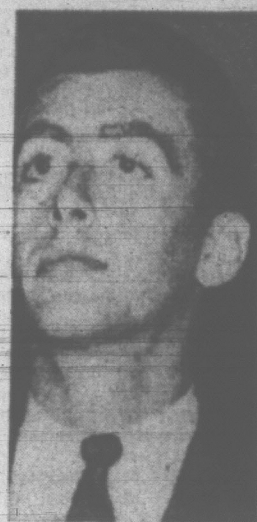

Chief Justice Sherwood Lett in his judgment Monday declaring the takeover illegal set the price at $192,828,125.

Mr. Bennett informed his cabinet of his decision by telephone at a special Thursday afternoon cabinet meeting.

It was obvious as ministers went into the regular morning meeting earlier they did not know about it.

Mr. Bennett also telephoned

MARTINIS
... serious charge

IN NEW YORK

Judge's Son
Indicted
For Homicide

NEW YORK (AP) — A Bronx grand jury today indicted Garth Martinis, a judge's 23-year-old son, for vehicular homicide in a three-car, five-death collision May 19.

District Attorney Isidore Dolinger, had asked the grand jury to consider new charges against young Martinis in a public uproar which followed the five-minute deliberation and acquittal of Martinis by three of his father's colleagues.

Garth is the son of Criminal Court Judge Joseph A. Martinis.

The 23-member grand jury indicted Martinis on a much graver charge than the counts—reckless and drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident—for which he had been tried and freed.

The vehicular homicide indictment contained five counts, one for each person killed in the highway crash. Conviction could result in a five-year sentence for each count.

The indictment also charged Martinis with third-degree assault against the only person who survived the collision with him.

CHRISTINE PAYS OUT

LONDON (AP) — A London court today fined Christine Keeler $6 ($18) for two parking meter offences, outside the West End flat where she is staying with a friend.

The 21-year-old playgirl, who once shared a flat with Dr. Stephen Ward, also was ordered to pay costs amounting to £2 2s ($6.30).

Miss Keeler pleaded guilty through her lawyers, but stayed home.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — That's funny, you think, walking into the dim, cool restaurant from the blazing noon outside. That girl by the end booth seems to be naked.

Not quite, you realize, as your eyes adjust to the gloom. She's wearing something. It's a leopard skin bikini.

A bikini? At high noon? In a restaurant?

"Hi!" says the blue-eyed blonde, when she gets to your booth. "Like my suit? It's simulated leopard. Helanca stretch. It's $22.98, or $19.98 in plain colors."

That's right. It's for sale. You have just walked into what must surely be the ultimate in dry goods merchandising: The Blueplate special fashion show.

Fixes Longer
Credit Period

OTTAWA (CP) — Red China has agreed to purchase between 112,000,000 and 186,700,000 bushels of Canadian wheat in a three-year agreement dating from Aug. 1, an announcement from Trade Minister Sharp's office said.

OTTAWA (CP) — Grain sales equivalent to those in the expiring agreement are covered in a new agreement with Red China to be announced later today, in formants said.

Trade Minister Sharp and the Canadian wheat board will simultaneously announce the details—which include a longer credit period—in the House of Commons and at Winnipeg later today.

Mr. Sharp told the Commons today that he had just got word of the completion of the deal.

The announcement had been forecast earlier this week, with amounts of grain running closer than had been anticipated. Generally to the 145,000,000 bushels of wheat and 28,000,000 bushels of barley sold to Red China in the 2½-year agreement signed in April, 1961, and now expiring.

Mr. Sharp was replying to Reynold Rapp (PC—Humboldt-Melfort-Tisdale).

The negotiations with Red China have been carried on at Hong Kong since early July by W. C. McNamara, Canadian wheat board commissioner who arranged the expiring agreement.

Marcel Lessard (SC—Lac St. Jean) asked whether the government will revive its policy of trading with Red China in view of President Kennedy's statement Thursday that Red China has become the greatest menace to world peace.

Prime Minister Pearson said there is no intention at the moment to change Canada's trade policy with China. The policy was to trade non-strategic goods only and it was governed by an agreement with Canada's NATO allies.

Peace Contractors
Order Supply Halt

VANCOUVER (CP) — Contractors engaged to build the huge Peace River dam in British Columbia's northern interior have told their suppliers to temporarily withhold supplies on order for the $72,000,000 project.

A spokesman for Peter Klewitt and Sons Company of Canada Limited, one of a three-company combine which won the big contract, said today letters to this effect were sent to the suppliers Wednesday.

He said the withholding action was taken pending clarification of the status of the project following Monday's provincial supreme court judgment by Chief Justice Sherwood Lett declaring expropriation of the B.C. Electric ultra vires of the powers of the province.

However, the spokesman said, cessation of work is not anticipated because there are adequate supplies on hand at the site near interior Hudson Hope to keep it going for a while. The river is being diverted around the site where the dam is to be built.

PEARSON
DISMISSES
GORDON QUERY

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson gave no definite reply in the Commons today when asked about a published report that Donald Gordon's appointment as CNR president will not be renewed.

Douglas Fisher (NDP—Port Arthur) referred to a report in the Montreal newspaper Le Devoir that Justice Minister Chevrier had urged Mr. Gordon's removal because of his attitude to French-speaking CNR employees.

Mr. Fisher said he hoped the story was "wildly speculative," and asked whether any consideration had been given to renewing Mr. Gordon's present appointment when it expires in September.

Mr. Pearson replied that the question was both out of order and "wildly speculative."

It's so much more satisfying to fight about a constitutional principle than just 21-million dollars.

the fish usually used for canning. Management has offered 10 cents.

There are wage demands for shoreworkers and tenders, and demands about prices on other species of salmon, but the price of pinks seems to be the main dispute.

Adding heat to the dispute has been the phenomenal run of salmon this season.

U.S. fishermen have been having their best sockeye season since 1903, having caught 750,000 sockeye so far this season, estimated at about half the year's run.

PINK HARVEST GOOD

Outlook for pink salmon is good, with trollers off the mouth of Juan de Fuca strait taking more pinks than ever before for this time of year.

U.S. trollers took in 83,000 pounds of salmon Thursday, four-fifths of it pinks.

Violence, which has already occurred in the B.C. strike, was threatened again in Vancouver overnight.

Police guards were placed around the home and offices of a superintendent of a fisheries company.

Divorce Bill Slowed Down

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate gave second reading approval in principle today to a private member's bill to end the parliamentary blockade of divorces from Quebec and Newfoundland, only provinces without divorce courts.

The measure was sent immediately to the Senate banking committee for detailed study after a number of senators charged that the bill takes away from the Senate some of its traditional powers.

Senator W. Ross Macdonald (L—Ontario), government leader, said it is obvious that some changes will be made to the bill while it is in committee. If this takes place the bill will have to be returned to the Commons for its approval of any amendments.

Chief objection to the bill to streamline Parliament's divorce machinery and crack the New Democratic Party blockade of Quebec and Newfoundland divorces was with respect to powers to be granted to a commissioner who would hear evidence in divorce petition.

Under the bill the Senate would grant divorces and judgments in the form of resolutions on the recommendation of the special officer and the Senate divorce committee.

The Commons gave unanimous approval to the bill Thursday.

U.S. Sets Arms Embargo On S. Africa

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United States announced today it is banning by the end of 1963 the sale of all weapons and military equipment to South Africa because of that country's racial separation policies.

The embargo was disclosed by U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson in a speech before the United Nations Security Council. He spoke after Ghana's Alex Quaison-Sackey had denounced South Africa as an outlaw and asked the council to consider expelling it from the UN.

erected against divorces by some New Democratic Party MPs.

Senator J. W. de B. Faris (L—British Columbia) told the Senate Thursday he considers the bill as a sop to Arnold Peters (NDP—Timiskaming) and Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena). They have led the Commons divorce blockade, arguing that divorce cases should be taken out of the Commons' hands.

missing. It was presumed he also died in the explosion.

Linda Duguay, 14, suffered head injuries and fractures. She was unconscious and in critical condition.

Giselle Labelle, 15, of Field, Ont., 45 miles west of here, was taken off the critical list. She suffered burns to most of her body and serious knee injury.

Others injured were: Rene Menard, 14, burns, condition fair; John Ross, 17, burns to chest and face, condition satisfactory; Edward Thorpe, 27, of Sudbury, the gasoline truck driver, burns, condition satisfactory.

Harry Talinko, 33, and his son Rickey, 9, who were at the garage having repairs done to the family car, were taken to hospital with minor injuries and later were released.

Two inspectors from the provincial fire marshal's office in Toronto arrived here early today to inspect the blasted and burned debris—a rubbish heap bearing no resemblance to the building that once stood there.

A car parked in the garage was picked up and hurled on-top of the ruins.

It is believed the gasoline truck, filling the station's tanks, spilled some 35 or 40 gallons minutes before the explosion.

Alex Nepitt of Caprepi, driver of a truck across the road at the time, said: "I heard the most tremendous explosion. I thought it was a dynamite blast."

"But I was looking at the garage and saw it lift off its foundation, crumple in the air and then it blew out all around."

BUILDING DISINTEGRATED

Mrs. Margaret Surch, 20, who also saw the explosion, said: "It was just like in a war movie when a bomb drops on a village. One minute the building was standing . . . then it disintegrated before my eyes."

"Then there were screams. A few young fellows staggered out with their shirts torn from their backs and with blood on them. One woman who was pulled out was lying on the ground covered with blood."

HYDRO CO-OPS TURN DOWN QUEBEC BID

MONTREAL (CP)—The executive of the Quebec Association of Electricity Co-Operatives Thursday rejected the Crown-owned Quebec Hydro Commission's offer to buy its 45 electrical co-operatives.

Executive spokesmen Jean Louis Labbe of Sept-les, Gules Thibault of Coaticook and Jean Paul Poulin of Mont Laurier said at a press conference they decided against the Hydro offer because it is only half the worth of the co-ops.

Quebec Hydro is offering $7,614,963 for the co-ops. The co-op leaders place a net value of $15,317,503 on their combined properties.

The executive said it would be in the public interest to merge with Quebec Hydro as lower consumer rates would result but it wants the individual co-ops to decide for themselves and report their decisions.

4 Sworn to New Judicial Posts

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four new British Columbia judicial appointees were sworn in at two ceremonies here Thursday.

Chief Justice Sherwood Lett of the Supreme Court took his oath as chief justice of the B.C. Appeal Court, replacing Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay who is retiring.

Mr. Justice Norman Whitaker, moving to the appeal court from the supreme court, was sworn in at the same ceremony in the chambers of Mr. Justice H. I. Bird of the appeal court.

Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes of the supreme court officiated at the swearing-in of Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, new chief justice of the supreme court, and Vancouver lawyer Victor Dryer, who became a supreme court jurist.

The appointments were announced by Justice Minister Chevrier June 28.

JFK Continues Rights Fight In Face of Popularity Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Kennedy pledged to continue the struggle for civil rights laws because he feels that "this is a national crisis of great proportions" and must be resolved.

The president told his press conference Thursday that despite possible loss in political prestige and popularity he feels "every effort should be made to protect the rights of all of our citizens, and advance their right to equality of opportunity."

At the same time, Kennedy said he believes Negro demonstrations are lessening partly because of the work done in the communities and partly because Congress is considering the problems.

The president spoke on a day marked by demonstrations in New York, Chicago and several other cities. Other developments included a court order to desegregate public parks and playgrounds in New Orleans, the acceptance of a Negro student at the University of South Carolina, and the naming of the first Negro to the U.S. Davis Cup tennis team.

In addition, the president of the National Urban League called for improvement of the lot of the Negro in all aspects.
